Egyptians, Israelis Agree To Troop Pullback Terms

Efforts Of Kissinger Pay Off With Peace

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

President Nixon announced today that Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger had achieved an agreement by Israel and Egypt on withdrawal of their forces from the Suez Canal front. Daily artillery and tank duels there had threatened to renew the war and block the Geneva peace conference.

The announcement was made simultaneously in Jerusalem, Washington and Cairo after a week of intensive negotiations by Kissinger who shuttled between Jerusalem and the Egyptian Nile River resort city of Aswan.

Nixon said the cease-fire would be signed at noon (6 a.m. EDT) Friday at Kilometer 101 on the Cairo-Suez road where Kissinger got Israeli and Egyptian military commanders to sit down together in November to discuss peace for the first time in years.

Israeli officials told UPI Correspondent Jack Payton in Jerusalem they expected the formal announcement to come tonight.

UPI Correspondent Maurice Guindi reported from Aswan, the Egyptian resort city on the Nile River, that the agreement is expected to be signed tomorrow or this weekend at Kilometer 101 on the Cairo-Suez road, where Kissinger first succeeded in getting Israeli and Egyptian generals to sit together at the peace table last November.

Kissinger achieved his breakthrough in a series of unprecedented shuttle flights between sun-baked Aswan and the ancient city of Jerusalem, swept today by a rare blizzard that delayed the final agreement. He was returning to Aswan Friday for final talks with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat.

Agreement on disengagement of the Israeli forces along the canal meant that the Geneva Peace conference could now resume. There has been daily tank and artillery duels along the canal since the cease-fire went into effect Oct. 24 and both sides have warned repeatedly that the October war could resume.

The Israeli National Radio announced that the joint communique would come tonight from the four capitals —the United States and the Soviet Union are co-chairmen of the Geneva peace conference.

A White House spokesman disclosed that Kissinger had been in telephone communication with President Nixon on the agreement.

Sadat summoned his four deputy premiers, other top political aides and newspaper editors from Cairo for a meeting tonight to explain the terms of the agreement which is believed to call basically for an Israeli pullback 20 miles from the Suez Canal and a thinning out of the Egyptian 2nd and 3rd Armies on the Israeli side of the canal.

State's Growth Slowing

SACRAMENTO (AP) — By the year 2000, California will have 29 million residents — a 46 per cent jump over its present population but well below earlier projected estimates, state officials say.

Growth in Marin will be slightly below the statewide average, according to the forecast, with an increase of 85,900 residents or 41.4 per cent.

That would bring the county's population, currently 207,500, to 293,400.

Gov. Ronald Reagan's finance director, Verne Orr, said yesterday the 29 million figure was about a tenth less than a similar forecast made in 1971.

Projections are based on declining migration from other states to California, but they make no provision for what the energy crisis might do to population patterns, he said.

"It is customary to preface the specific assumptions underlying projections with a general statement to the effect that no war or catastrophe of sufficient magnitude to affect the basic conditions will take place," the report said.

"However, the current energy shortage, if prolonged, might well have such an impact and this would doubtless have some effect upon the distribution of the population if not upon the total number of people," the report added.

Orr said only four counties which had 100,000 or more inhabitants in 1970 will double by the end of the century. They are San Luis Obispo, Santa Cruz, Sonoma, and Ventura.

By 2000, Los Angeles County is expected to add more than 800,000 residents to its 1970 population of 7 million.

Sparsely populated Mono County on the eastern slope of the Sierra Nevada is expected to show the greatest percentage growth — a 334.1 per cent jump from 4,200 in 1970 to 17,800 by 2000.

The only decrease is projected for the city and county of San Francisco. The report predicts an 8.1 drop from the 1970 population of 714,300 to 656,600 by the year 2000.

Figures for the other seven Bay Area counties, with present population first, predicted population next and percentage of change, are:

Sonoma: 205,200; 477,900; 132.9.

Action On Water For Two Schools

By ERIC INGRAM

The Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission moved swiftly and unanimously last night to end a threatened shutoff of water to two schools in Terra Linda.

The five-member commission, empowered to oversee the boundary changes of cities and special districts, authorized the board of supervisors to force annexation of the two schools and surrounding property to the Marin Municipal Water District.

(Supervisors agreed earlier this week to force the annexation if given jurisdiction under a rarely used section of state law.)

The water district last month told officials at Santa Margarita and Marindale schools their flow of water would end Dec. 1 because the schools are outside district boundaries.

Water district attorney Tom Thorner said the action was required because state law prohibits districts that have declared a "threatened water shortage" and imposed a moratorium on new hookups from serving outside customers.

Until this summer, the two schools were thought to be in district boundaries, but it was discovered the water district had erred in 1950 and excluded the area when the rest of Terra Linda was annexed.

The two schools sought annexation in July but the water district board took no action because to do so would be inconsistent with its controversial water moratorium.

Thorner appealed to the commission last night to delay its action at least 45 days so legislation could be introduced in Sacramento to correct the problem.

The legislation was proposed this week by water board president Jack R. Felson who had said earlier that he would try to keep supervisors "from meddling" in district business. Felson did not attend last night's session.

The bill would allow the district to continue supplying customers who were receiving water "for human use" prior to the enactment of the moratorium last April.

Thorner said the legislation would not only aid the schools. It also would help 20 homeowners on Wolfback Ridge, the Muir Woods National Monument, the Sausalito Sanitary District and Forts Barry, Baker and Cronkite — all of which have been notified that their water service will end this summer, the attorney said.

Dr. Clifford W. Campbell, superintendent of the Dixie School District, and Edward Brennan, director of special services for the county schools office, ob-

Bagley In Race For Controller

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Assemblyman William T. Bagley, pledging to serve as "a completely independent watchdog over the people's tax dollars," today announced his candidacy for state controller.

The San Rafael Republican acknowledged at a press conference that GOP candidates face tough contests this year because of Watergate, but said they have a chance to win statewide office if they campaign openly and with candor.

Bagley, a longtime worker for past Nixon campaigns, termed the Watergate affair "an arrogant misuse of power" and referred to the coverup as "an almost literal atrocity."

The assemblyman, first elected in 1960, added that voters this year were likely to examine candidates carefully and

Nine Believed Dead As Storm Trips Slide

CANYONVILLE, Ore. (UPI) — A raging storm that roared down from the Pacific Northwest mellowed to a drizzle today but not before triggering a mud slide that buried nine men near this southwestern Oregon town. (See photos, pages 10 and 28.)

The Douglas county sheriff's office said the small telephone repeater station in which the men were working was lost in a gooey mud slide 125 feet deep and 400 feet long last night.

Another three persons in Northern California were listed as dead from the storm, two of them a brother and sister who were swept away when a log jam broke and a creek surged over its banks.

Ken Kelley, a workman who missed the Canyonville mud slide because he was off getting coffee, said: "Then came another slide and covered up everything we had for landmarks.

"The entire canyon was full of mud and it was still coming from the top of the mountain."

Robert Cook, who managed to struggle out of the 15-by-20 foot building, said it was "pulverized" despite its walls that were made of eight-inch-thick concrete blocks.

The men had been repairing the main coaxial cable between California and Oregon, which

Fog Rolls In After The Storm

Thick fog blanketed much of Marin today as a wind-whipped storm which swept through the county yesterday subsided.

Federal forecasters, however, predicted a 40 per cent chance of rain tomorrow.

Yesterday's storm, which dumped up to 1.56 inches of rain on San Anselmo in the past 24 hours ending at 8 a.m. today, was accompanied by minor flooding and some wind damage.

Fire, police and utility officials in Marin reported scattered power failures, minor automobile mishaps and other weather-related damage. Strong gusts felled a large Eucalyptus tree on Lark Lane near Mill Valley, downed utility wires on Grove Lane in San Anselmo and lifted a section of roof off a home on Woodside Court.

No serious injuries were reported as a result of the storm.

Other rainfall totals reported for Marin and Southern Sonoma counties were: Sausalito, .74 inch; Petaluma, .74; Mill Valley, 1.13; Tamalpais Valley, 1.07; Belvedere, 1.02; San Rafael, .54; Larkspur, .78; Corte Madera, 1.08; Fairfax, 1.31, and Novato, .73.

San Rafael had .54 of an inch in the 24 hours ending at 11 a.m. today.

Rate Boost Ban On Car Insurance

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Noting an apparent decline in highway deaths because of energy-saving measures, the Cost of Living Council imposed a two-month ban yesterday on increases in auto insurance premiums.

The moratorium was put into effect immediately, lasting until March 17. It was not a freeze on premiums since the council said rates could be decreased.

New Ferry May Not Run Until Late Summer

Operation of the Golden Gate Bridge District's first new ferry may not begin until the end of summer, according to the district's president.

The first of the three new vessels being built under a $12.6 million contract in San Diego still is scheduled to go into service in June. But mounting delays by subcontractors in delivering parts, equipment and material apparently were behind the hint by Stephan C. Leonoudakis that delivery may be postponed.

His acknowledgement of the prospect of a later start in running the first ferry came in a letter Monday to Charles B. Weers, secretary of the Marin County Labor Council. Discussing the ferry system, Leonoudakis said the district expected to operate the first vessel "by the end of summer." The two other ferries are scheduled to be delivered at four-month intervals after the first.

The primary delays have been in delivery to the shipyard of the power plants and interior bulkheads. Manufacture of the bulkheads, made of an asbestos-like material, has been held up by a lack of fuel needed by Johns-Manville.

Another major problem resulted when the subcontractor doing the interior work on the ferries went bankrupt, and new arrangements had to be made for the work.

The new ferries initially will serve Sausalito, at a temporary landing, since completion of the Larkspur ferry terminal has been delayed 13 months to July 1975. Temporary facilities at Larkspur, however, are supposed to be ready earlier next year.

Pennsylvania's Governor To China

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI) — Pennsylvania Gov. Milton J. Shapp and his wife, Muriel, will leave Feb. 4 for a one-month visit to China. The tour was arranged by a group of students and teachers at Pennsylvania State University, with whom the Shapps will travel, the governor's office said yesterday.

The trip will last until March 6, keeping the Democratic governor away from Pennsylvania during the start of his campaign for renomination in the May primary.

FBI Launches Probe Into Tape Erasures

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The FBI began an investigation today into the erasure of a key portion of one of President Nixon's Watergate tapes, and the White House promised full cooperation.

A presidential spokesman declined to say whether President Nixon would personally agree to submit to investigators' questions. "I wouldn't expect them to ask for an interview with the President," Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said.

"If an approach is made to the White House we would cooperate fully," Warren said.

In response to questions, Warren said the President "has absolute confidence" in Rose Mary Woods, his longtime personal secretary.

Warren branded as "false and incredible" published reports quoting sources familiar with the investigation as saying the President asked Miss Woods in mid-November if she would take responsibility for erasing the 18 ½-minute segment missing from one tape.

Miss Woods' lawyer, Charles S. Rhyne, also described the report, which appeared in the Washington Post, as "completely false."

Rhyne made the comment in response to reporters' questions and said that if called before a grand jury, Miss Woods would "tell the same story she always has" about her innocence in the erasure.

Rhyne was questioned after Judge John J. Sirica completed the third day of hearings on the tape gap, recessing the sessions until tomorrow morning. Sirica has said he is considering turning the matter over to a grand jury.

"Will you volunteer to have Miss Woods testify before the grand jury?" Rhyne was asked. "I'm not volunteering, but I don't mind Miss Woods testifying any time, any place," Rhyne said. "She'd tell the same story she always has and always will."

Miss Woods testified last fall that she may have accidentally obliterated four or five minutes of the June 20, 1972, tape of a conversation between Nixon and H.R. Haldeman, then his top aide.

She maintained that she could not have been responsible for the entire erasure.

Nader Asks Congress To Clamp New Controls On Oil Industry

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Terming the energy crisis an oil industry fabrication, Ralph Nader urged Congress today to legislate new controls on the oil industry to keep consumer energy costs down.

With new and sometimes conflicting supply and demand statistics coming out daily from the industry and government, congressmen — mostly Democrats, are also pressing for action to soothe the public.

Five senators and three representatives yesterday jointly called for a 90-day freeze on prices of domestic crude oil and petroleum products, charging the Nixon administration with giving in to "the extortion of the American people by the major petroleum companies."

Sen. Richard Schweiker, R. Pa, said he will propose a bill to create a federal commission to subsidize domestic fuel production for the purpose of making the country selfsufficient in energy and to regulate U.S. oil firms.

Unless the lawmakers act, "the fabricated energy crisis of 1974 will generate a trillion dollar trauma for consumers over the next 20 years," Nader said in prepared testimony before a House Small Business subcommittee.

He asked Congress to set up a government-run corporation to explore for gas and oil on federally owned lands.

A House Interior subcommittee was to begin hearings today to determine the extent of oil and natural gas under public land.

Nader said oil from federal lands could be sold cheaply to small independent dealers who are "now being squeezed out of business" because they are forced to buy high-priced imported oil and cannot compete with the cheaper domestically produced oil sold by many of the major producers.

He also urged Congress to issue federal charters to oil corporations, which are now chartered by the states, and to enforce the antitrust laws "to break up the power of the big oil firms and promote a competitive industry from the oil well to the gas station."

As oil industry leaders heard from government officials and congressmen yesterday that there is public suspicion about the reality of an energy crisis, the American Petroleum Institute (API) said domestic crude oil production and crude imports were lower last week than the week before.

API said gasoline stocks were down along with the "middle distillate" fuel used for diesel oil and home heating oil, but substantially higher than they were a year ago.

Federal Energy Office chief William Simon said fuel supplies are expected to be 13 per cent below demand during the first three months of this year, but that "the magnitude of this shortage should not cause us to panic." He said gasoline consumption in the last week of December was 18.7 per cent less than normal.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

A Pledge To Fight Corruption

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (UPI) — Gov. Marin Mandel, saying recent political scandals have made Maryland "a measure of our sickness as a nation," pledged a campaign yesterday to rid the state of political corruption.

Mandel

In his annual state-of-the-state message to the Maryland General Assembly, Mandel said Maryland has "become a household word to many Americans — a postmark for greed, for corruption, for kickbacks and payoffs, for the quick and easy ethical standards, for a way of life that is less than honorable.

"A native son —a fallen symbol of rectitude — is destroyed and disgraced. Businessmen are unmasked. Those who would enforce and make our laws are on trial for allegedly violating them."

The governor did not mention names, but plainly referred to the resignation of Spiro T. Agnew as vice president and numerous corruption scandals.

Two Attacked

BELFAST (UPI) — Gunmen kidnaped a Protestant motorist and beat and cut the hair of a Roman Catholic mother in separate incidents in Northern Ireland today, police said.

A few hours after the abduction of the motorist a telephone caller who said he was "Captain Black" of the Protestant extremist Ulster Freedom Fighters told the Belfast newspaper Irish News that a body had been dumped at an abandoned airfield.

More than four years of violence among Northern Ireland's majority Protestants, minority Catholics and security forces has claimed 936 lives.

Tanaka Ends Tour

TOKYO (UPI) — Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka returned home today from a Southeast Asian goodwill tour marred by violent protests against Japan's growing economic influence in the region.

Tanaka went quickly to the Imperial Palace after arriving, refusing to make any comments about the bloody demonstrations during his five-nation, 15-day trip.

Crosby Stable

BURLINGAME (UPI) — Entertainer Bing Crosby remains in stable condition and is making satisfactory progress from last weekend's lung surgery.

A hospital spokesman said yesterday Bing's mail has been swamped with get-well cards from the young and old who remember him from film and scores of best-selling songs.

Gales Claim 20

LONDON (UPI) — Gales battered the English Channel today, capsizing small ships and drowning more than 20 persons, the Coast Guard said.

Most of the dead were from a Cypriot freighter that broke up on a reef off the island of Guernsey and a Danish coaster that capsized in mountainous seas off the Devon coast.

On The Move

SAIGON (UPI) — South Vietnamese troops, backed by fighter-bombers, helicopters and artillery, slowly battled their way today through North Vietnamese forces encircling a government base in the Central Highlands.

The Saigon military command reported 121 North Vietnamese killed yesterday during the government push to Le Minh, 225 miles north of Saigon. Three Saigon soldiers were reported wounded in the heaviest fighting of 1974.

In Cambodia, rebel gunners kept up their rocket attacks against Phnom Penh today

Georgian Thinks Nixon Working On A Plea Deal

ATLANTA (UPI) — Rep. Andrew Young, D-Ga., said yesterday he has a "sneaking suspicion" President Nixon is involved in plea bargaining on the Watergate scandal that could result in his resignation within 90 days.

Young also predicted that a push for Nixon's impeachment will come from Republican congressmen who "won't be able to run for office under the banner of Watergate."

He told a YMCA luncheon that he expects the House of Representatives to vote on impeachment within 90 days but added that he expects Nixon to have resigned by then.

"I have a sneaking suspicion we're in the middle of another plea bargaining session (such as that involving former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew)," said Young. He said the current bargaining involves Nixon, former Atty. Gen. John Mitchell and former commerce secretary Maurice Stans.

Young said recent optimistic statements by Vice President Gerald Ford and Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., are "designed to assure the American public that the whole world is not falling apart while it really is."

Democrats have a lot to gain by not impeaching the President ... "but while we would gain as a political party, we would lose terribly as a nation," he said.

"I think the Republican congressmen are going to come back and take the lead on impeachment," he said. "They are going to have to face up to their reelection. I don't think I'm going to have much to do with that as a Democrat."

Young tied the Watergate scandal to "pocketbook" problems facing the country. Citing increased bread prices, Young said that those who "made notoriously large profits" on the Soviet wheat deal were listed as contributors to the Committee to Re-Elect the President. He also mentioned the higher milk prices while noting substantial contributions by dairy industry officials to the Nixon campaign.

Steps Proposed To Keep TV From 'Big Brother's' Control

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A White House "cabinet committee" has proposed steps to prevent "big brother" from controlling what people can see and hear over their cable TV channels by 1984.

The committee proposed for cable TV a complete reversal of policies developed for broadcast television by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC), which require television stations to devote time to public interest programs, minority rights, and enforce a fairness doctrine.

The committee proposed that the government exert no more control over the content of cable TV programs than it now does over the content of newspapers, magazines and motion pictures.

The present type of FCC control creates a "constant danger of unwarranted government influence or control over what people see or hear on television broadcast programming," the report said.

In proposing policies for the next ten years, the committee said it was concerned both literally and figuratively with the year "1984."

In a fictional prophesy entitled "1984" author George Orwell describes a society under virtual total control of a dictator known as "Big Brother" who pries into private lives of citizens through their two-way TV screens.

The committee was headed by Clay T. Whitehead, director of the White House Office of Telecommunications.

Petaluma's Case Called Justifiable

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The City of Petaluma is justified in limiting its growth because it already has outgrown its water and sewage facilities, a federal court was told yesterday.

City engineer David A. Youth gave that testimony in a suit brought by two builders' associations who want to outlaw an ordinance that restricts Petaluma to 500 new housing units a year.

Young told Judge Lloyd H. Burke, who is hearing the case without a jury, that Petaluma was exceeding pollution standards set by the Regional Water Quality Control Board.

The city now dumps sewage into the Petaluma River and a project to discharge instead in San Francisco Bay probably can't be started in 1976, Young added.

Petaluma, he continued, already is using more water from the Sonoma County Water Agency that its contract calls for and a project to obtain more can't be completed in less than three years.

The suit concerns an ordinance passed last year by a vote of 4,181 to 906 and opposed by the Construction Industry Association and the San Francisco, Peninsula and Redwood Empire Building Industry Association.

Builders contend the ordinance is unconstitutional since it limits the right to travel to another city.

Meanwhile, Petaluma has received nearly $10,000 to help pay defense costs in the court fight.

The donations are mostly from other local governments in California, according to city secretary Marjorie Wilson who has kept track of the funds.

But others are from individuals in places as far apart as Philadelphia, Boulder, Colo., and Durham, N.C.

Mrs. Wilson said most of the government donations came in response to a Sept. 14 letter from Mayor Helen Putnam to every city and county government in the state.

Recognizing that the case could set a precedent affecting community planning efforts across the nation, Mayor Putnam asked agencies which might be affected to help finance Petaluma's effort.

"We mailed the letters on Sept. 14 and the first check was here Sept. 19," Mrs. Wilson said. "It was from Marin County."

The $9,638 received so far came from 36 cities, two counties and a number of individuals.

"The smallest was $3 from a girl in Philadelphia," Mrs. Wilson said. "She said she was a planning student and she wanted to have a part in it."

Largest donation was $250, the amount requested by Mayor Putnam's letter. Many contributions of that size were received.

Mrs. Wilson said it is impossible to estimate how much the court action will eventually cost.

"We spent more than $10,000 before it even went to trial," she said. The city has hired as special counsel Oakland attorney Robert T. Anderson, a municipal law specialist.

City representatives have hinted that they will appeal to a higher court if the district court decision is not in their favor, so the battle could be a long one.

STORM

had been damaged by an earlier landslide.

Heavy rain sent rivers overflowing their banks, triggered mud slides on major highways, washed out railroad tracks and forced evacuations of hundreds of homes in Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana and California. Utilities were knocked out.

In Meyers Flat, a brother and sister were washed into Bridge Creek at the Eel River when high water swept their home away. They were Jimmy Moore, 14, and Cathy, 13. Humboldt County sheriff's deputies said their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emory Moore, were safe.

Not far away, a duck hunter vanished in a gale at Big Lagoon and was listed as dead. He was Larry Gentosi, 20, of Costa Mesa, a student at Humboldt State University.

The National Weather Service said skies were partly clear with only a few reports of rain today, but a new storm was churning towards the West Coast from the Pacific Ocean. More rain is expected Friday.

After the rain fell incessantly in the Pacific Northwest for two days, it roared into Northern California yesterday.

At Dunsmuir in Siskiyou County, the town's sewage treatment plant was threatened, and city officials said that, if sewage settling ponds were flooded, the waste would be carried down the Sacramento River into picturesque Lake Shasta.

The state Office of Emergency Services in Sacramento, said the respite from the rain helped ease flood conditions but the water was precariously high on the Klamath, Trinity, Van Duzen, Mad, Eel and Smith rivers.

U.S. Highway 101, a main north-south artery along the coast, was closed in many spots because of mud slides. And Amtrak announced suspension of all passenger rail service between Oakland, Calif., and Vancouver, B.C., because of slides.

An Amtrak train with 100 passengers was stranded by floods in Troy, Mont. The Burlington Northern main line was washed out and several freight trains stranded in Libby, Mont., and Bonner's Ferry, Idaho.

National Guardsmen, law enforcement officers, convict crews, Army Corps of Engineers workers and private citizens shored up crumbling dikes and helped in the evacuation of homes. In Everett, Wash., old battered cars were dropped by helicopter to strengthen bursting dikes.

In Northern California, more than 700 persons were evacuated.

Turkey Forecast

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California farmers intend to raise 21.5 million turkeys in 1974, a 23 per cent increase over last year's production of 17.5 million birds, the California Crop and Livestock Reporting Service said today.

Two Given Sentences In Beating

Two men who reportedly attacked and beat an off-duty San Francisco policeman have been sentenced by Judge David R. Baty of Marin Municipal Court.

John Nelson Sibbald, 25, of San Rafael, drew 10 days in jail and six months on probation for his guilty plea to battery on the officer, Herman G. Fruchtenicht.

Robert David Bayer, 24, also of San Rafael, was fined $100 and placed on probation for six months. He pleaded guilty to disturbing the peace.

Originally arrested on suspicion of assault on a peace officer, a felony, the two were permitted to plead guilty to the less serious misdemeanor charges.

Fairfax police said Sibbald and Bayer hit Fruchtenicht in the face with a chain and on the neck with a walking cane and choked him with a leather thong on a Fairfax Street Dec. 13.

Two Escape Jail Terms For Shoplifting

A San Rafael man and a Berkeley woman have escaped jail sentences in the shoplifting of $163 worth of goods from the Emporium in the Northgate shopping center in November.

Superior Court Judge Charles Read Best ordered William Thomas Brennan, 30, and Maryanne Frieda Schmidt, 22, to work 120 hours for the Marin Volunteer Bureau after suspending 30-day jail sentences and placing both on probation for a year.

In addition, he fined Brennan $250 and Miss Schmidt $125.

Following the shoplifting incident, the two were chargd with burglary, but Best allowed them to plead guilty to petty theft, a misdemeanor.

Small Turnout In College Vote

Only about 2.5 per cent of the College of Marin student body cast votes this week to elect seven persons to the associated students board.

Elected were Patricia Challender, Philip Skow, Debbie Farani, Mark Riordan, Susan Perry, Gerald Stocker and Walter Kopp. Unsuccessful candidates were Robin Williams and Richmond Young.

Students also supported a referendum on the ballot to lower the legal age for drinking alcoholic beverages from 21 to 18.

TAPES

walt, testified before the Watergate scandal broke, there had been plans to expand the secret White House taping system.

Zumwalt was called to testify about his role in maintaining the taping system that automatically recorded presidential conversations in several rooms. Zumwalt said there had been plans in the summer of 1971 to improve the taping system.

Asked by assistant prosecutor Richard Ben-Veniste if the plan "was put on a hold basis and never used" after the Watergate break-in took place June 17, 1972, Zumwalt replied, "Yes."

Zumwalt said the taping system was dismantled last July 18, two days after its existence was made public at Senate Watergate hearings. But it was not until "the first part of November" that the wires to hidden microphones were finally cut, he said.

As to the gap on one of the tapes, evidence on the public record does not indicate who was responsible for causing the erasure, and it is this mystery the FBI apparently has been asked to solve for possible criminal proceedings.

BAGLEY

"do a better job of voting" than they have in the past. He noted that he never has lost an election.

Bagley, 45, is seeking to succeed a close friend, Houston I. Flournoy, who is running for the GOP nomination for governor.

The assemblyman, who helped negotiate major tax reform, welfare and school financing bills with Gov. Ronald Reagan and the Democratic-controlled legislature, was the first prominent Republican to declare for state controller.

He is generally regarded as the leading Republican tax expert in the Assembly. He was "neutral" on Reagan's voter-defeated tax and expenditure limitation ballot initiative last year.

Bagley, chairman of the Assembly Welfare Committee, said in November 1972 that he would not seek re-election and was actively seeking a policy-making position with the Nixon administration. The subsequent Watergate disclosures changed his mind.

He announced he will make a disclosure of his personal finances Friday and said as state controller intended to continue to act as a "catalyst" for compromise between the legislature and governor.

The state controller, Bagley said, "should have the practical ability of bringing together for the public benefit the state's executive and legislative branches, despite their divergent points of view."

He said as a member of the state Lands Commission, chaired by the controller, he would act to preserve the environment and at the same time help solve the energy crisis by "actively pursuing the approval of properly located nuclear energy plants."

Bagley, who hired the campaign management firm of Spencer-Roberts, Woodward and McDowell, said he has taken a leave of absence from his law firm and will totally withdraw if elected.

Session Tonight On General Plan

A preliminary report on what may be included in a new Mill Valley General Plan will be discussed at 8 p.m. today at a meeting of the citizens advisory committee on the plan in the Mill Valley Library board room.

The report, to be given by the city's general plan consulting firm, Sedway-Cooke of San Francisco, will list possible future planning options open to the city, according to Planning Director Tom W. Newton.

Rabid Horse Suit Asks $4 Million

Mario and Eva Ghilotti, the Nicasio horse breeders exposed to rabies last May, filed a $4 million damage suit yesterday in Marin Superior Court.

The couple accused Marin County and the state of carelessness and negligence in failing to diagnose the deadly disease in a prized Arabian stallion.

Also named was John E. Zimmerman, a Point Reyes Station veterinarian who treated horses for the Ghilottis.

A stallion was put to death at the Mar-Ghi Ranch last May 20 when he began acting strangely. A portion of his brain was tested by the Marin Health Department but no trace of rabies was discovered.

Six weeks later a second horse, which had been boarded at the Ghilotti ranch, died and this time a rabies test proved positive.

State health officials then retested the first horse's brain and detected rabies.

Because of the delay in identifying the first horse as rabid, the Ghilottis were six weeks late in beginning the painful series of anti-rabies shots. They said they may not know if they have contracted the disease until early summer.

Also exposed were Dr. Zimmerman and veterinarian Donald E. Hansen of Point Reyes Station, ranchhand Mark Greving and a Forst Knolls couple, Norman and Madeline Krueger.

Claims totaling $4 million were filed against the county, including a $1 million claim by the Ghilottis, but the board of supervisors denied them.

Emergency Housing Group Sets Meeting

The first annual meeting of Marin Emergency Housing, an organization which provides short-term shelter for homeless families in Marin County, will be at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Red Cross office in San Rafael.

Elections will be held and funding will be discussed, according to Audrey A. Fatooh, executive director.

McCarthy Doesn't Much Care If Nixon Is Impeached Or Not

WASHINGTON (UPI) — If the former senator from Minnesota is planning a political comeback, he's going about it in a typical Eugene McCarthy way. He's acting indifferent and saying things no serious candidate would.

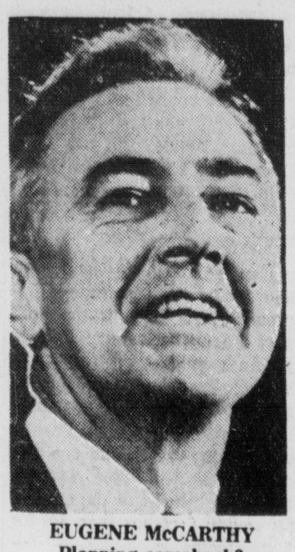
But the Democrat who started the political earthquake that unseated Lyndon Johnson has appeared to be doing everything wrong before and come up a winner, so several dozen Washington reporters listened to him hold forth for an hour at a news conference yesterday.

For openers, McCarthy declared he didn't care much whether President Nixon is impeached —"I'm rather indifferent ... I don't think it would make much difference ... I just don't think much good would come of it."

Speaking in a professorial monotone that made it impossible to differentiate serious observations from whimsy, McCarthy suggested it might be a good idea to forbid elected public officials to resign in midterm.

"Maybe we ought to repeal the 22nd Amendment and make Nixon run until he is beaten," he said. If political parties were concerned about being "stuck" with candidates, he said, they might take more care choosing them.

He also offered the suggestion: "The office of Vice President probably ought to be abolished." The job just "clutters up" elections, McCarthy said, and the quick choice of Gerald R. Ford to replace Spiro Agnew demonstrated the presidency probably could be filled just as efficiently without a vice president standing by.



EUGENE McCARTHY
Planning comeback?

He said chairman Robert Strauss of the Democratic National Committee is doing a "good job" keeping the party "milling around," which is "a good way to hold cattle for awhile, but you can't really move them any place."

But he was critical of the party's failure to develop a strong set of issues—"I see no evidence that the Democrats are even thinking seriously about the programs they ought to be taking to the people."

The Democrats, he said, definitely are in trouble: "Anytime you lose twice to Nixon, you've got to believe there's something wrong with the party."

McCarthy disclaimed any interest in another presidential race or a Senate campaign. He said he still was toying with the idea of returning to the House, but when he made overtures to Democrats in the Minnesota sixth district, "it wasn't exactly like Palm Sunday.

Fighter Planes To Be Scrapped

BONN (UPI) — The West German Ministry of Defense plans to scrap 92 supersonic American-designed Starfighter jets because it is unable to find buyers for them, the Bild newspaper reported today.

Bild said the Defense Ministry proposed to remove the Starfighters from service in order to re-equip two squadrons with American-made Phantoms.

"Attempts to sell the Starfighters to NATO partners have shown little success," Bild said. "Norway wants two of them, the United States three."

Two Supported For Grand Jury

The Marin County Democratic Central Committee has recommended that Kathleen Hill of Mill Valley and Mary Henry of San Rafael be appointed to the Marin County Grand Jury.

Both said they wanted to be members of 1974 grand jury, reported the committee's publicity chairman, Catherine Waycott.

DOWNED DOME

Strong winds which accompanied yesterday's storm toppled a few trees and this cupola at the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo. While repairs were being made, officials who feared the structure might fall on passersby blocked off a portion of Seminary Drive.

No Fingerprint Appeal Planned

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI) — San Jose State University's president said yesterday there were no plans to appeal a judge's ruling that author Jessica Mitford Treuhaft doesn't have to be fingerprinted to gain employment as a lecturer.

John Bunzel, the president, said he had "never personally believed the university should be in the business of fingerprinting."

Judge William A. Ingram, in ruling in favor of Mrs. Treuhaft, said he couldn't find any state law, rule or regulation requiring the fingerprinting of employes at state colleges or universities.

Mrs. Treuhaft, hired last September as "muckraker in residence," next week will end a semester as guest lecturer.

Her prints had been held in escrow while the matter was settled in court.

First Western Bank Chain Sold

LONDON (UPI) — Lloyds Bank Ltd. said today it has acquired the First Western Bank and Trust company from World Airways Inc. of Oakland, Calif., for approximately $115 million.

The 94-branch Californian bank with headquarters in Los Angeles will retain its present management and function as an autonomous unit of the Lloyds Bank group.

Tennis Courts At Two Parks Supported

The Rohnert Park Recreation Commission has recommended that the city construct tennis courts in Ladybug and Alicia parks.

Recreation Director James Pekkain said the commission decided Monday that Ladybug Park should have the first chance at courts. In a lower priority is Alicia Park where the commission believes two lighted courts would be suitable.

The city council will consider the recommendations at its meeting Monday in city hall. Councilmen had previously earmarked $54,000 in revenue-sharing funds for construction of tennis courts.

The recreation commission also voted to recommend increasing use fees for the Rohnert Park Community Center. Pekkain said operating costs have skyrocketed recently, making the increase necessary. If the city council approves the suggestion, use of the center's main hall will cost $40 for residents instead of the current $30 and $70, rather than $60 for nonresidents.

San Marin Group Picks New Slate

Joseph H. West of 193 San Andreas Way, a retired Air Force colonel, was elected president of the San Marin Improvement Association last night.

Other new officers are: Richard A. Bryant, vice president; Dick B. Buttie, treasurer; Pat Kalinsky, recording secretary, and Esther Katz, corresponding secretary.

Members voted to expand the board from 16 to 25 members and to make residents of multiple unit dwellings eligible for membership, which had been restricted to residents of single family homes.

Clothing Theft Charges Eyed

Two San Francisco men and a sailor, arrested in connection with the burglary of a Sausalito store, have not been charged pending a review of the case.

Taken into custody Dec. 16 following the theft of leather clothing from Pegasus on Princess Street were James Dominick Doriano, 27, Donald Scott Fraser, 23, and Robert Dennis Viril, 20, of the USS Niagara Falls.

A spokesman for the Marin District Attorney's office said no charge will be filed until further investigation is completed.

Former Baseball Star Sentenced On Extortion

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Jerry Priddy, former major league baseball star, was sentenced Monday to nine months in prison for trying to extort a quarter of a million dollars from a cruise ship line with a bomb threat.

Priddy, 54, played for the New York Yankees, Washington Senators, St. Louis Browns and the Detroit Tigers between 1941 and 1952, and in recent years headed an advertising agency here. At his trial in U.S. District Court, he admitted telephoning the offices of the Princess Lines, saying there were bombs aboard a cruise liner then at sea off the coast of Mexico.

But he said he had been forced to do so by a mysterious stranger who threatened to harm Priddy's family. Priddy was released on $150,000 bond, pending appeal.

Burglar Given Jail Sentence

Ronald Manly Bystrom, who pleaded guilty to burglarizing a Sausalito jewelry store of $586 in merchandise, has been sentenced to 90 days in jail.

Judge Charles Read Best of Marin Superior Court also placed Bystrom, 26, of Sausalito, on two years probation and ordered him to pay the Dubin Dubim jewelry store for a damaged front door.

Sausalito Police said Bystrom smashed the door in October, grabbed gold jewelry and fled to the bathroom of a nearby restaurant, where he was arrested.

If Bystrom completes probation without further arrests, the burglary will be declared a misdemeanor, Judge Best said.

MARVIN DOUGLAS BROWN
Two counts of murder

JOHN BROWN
Cousin also charged

Four Men Arrested In 'Opry' Star's Death

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Four men, including three brothers and a cousin, were arrested yesterday on charges of killing David "Stringbean" Akeman, a star of Grand Ole Opry and the "Hee Haw" television show, and his wife.

John A. Brown, 23, and Marvin Douglas Brown, 23, each were charged with two counts of murder. Charles Brown, 31, and Roy Brown, 26, were charged with being accessories to murder and concealing stolen property.

The three brothers and their cousin John were raised in the tiny community of Greenbrier, a few miles from the scene of the shootings at the modest Akeman farm home.

Akeman, 58, was killed when he apparently surprised burglars on returning home from a night performance Nov. 11. Police speculated his wife, Estelle, was shot as she was parking the car and attempted to flee. Akeman did not drive.

"The arrests were the result of a long, drawn out investigation," acting police chief Joe Casey told reporters. "We have been gathering evidence practically from the time this happened until today."

The Nashville morning newspaper, The Tennessean, reported today that another cousin of the four, Jack Holt, 27, also of Greenbrier, was the key witness and provided information enabling officers to obtain some physical evidence in the case.

The newspaper said Holt was in protective custody at a jail outside Nashville. Holt had been held on a federal charge of transporting a stolen motorcycle across state lines.

Casey declined to comment on the physical evidence except to say that some of the money taken from the home had been recovered. The robbers overlooked $5,700 later found in the clothes of the victims by funeral home attendants as well as a priceless antique banjo left to Akeman by the legendary Uncle Dave Macon.

Ford Visit Home Starts At Dentist

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (UPI) —Gerald R. Ford, returning home for the first time since he became vice president, started his sentimental visit today by going to his dentist.

"His teeth are fine," said Dr. G. Renton Worsfold, who has been Ford's dentist for 37 years. "But he needed them cleaned so I went ahead and did that."

Ford was all smiles as his whirlwind day of social and political engagements began.

On his schedule was induction into his high school's hall of fame. He was an all state football player in the late 1920s.

Ford arrived late yesterday aboard an Air Force jet to start a visit that Grand Rapids neighbors decided to celebrate as "Jerry Ford Day" in honor of their congressman for 25 years and the first Michigan resident to be vice president.

Ford gave up his congressional seat Dec. 6 when he was sworn in as the country's 40th vice president.

Judge Offers Drug Program

James Robert Detels, 18, of San Rafael has been told he must spend nine months in jail or enter a drug treatment program.

Detels was sentenced by Judge Charles Read Best of Marin Superior Court on his guilty plea to charges of burglarizing a San Rafael home of $100 in property in July.

Best also placed Detels on probation for two years. Court records show Detels, a carpenter, has used illegal drugs since age 11.

27 Extension Courses Offered

Twenty-seven extension courses will be offered in Marin this spring by Sonoma State College in Rohnert Park.

The classes will include art, education and psychology, according to a college spokesman.

Information may be obtained by writing the college's office of continuing education at 1801 East Cotati Avenue, Rohnert Park.

What Am I?

Often I am unrecognized - particularly in the very young.

I make the elderly suffer. So much, they may cut themselves off from family and friends . . . and they know the heartbreak of loneliness.

I rob more than 15 million Americans of much that is good. I undermine their confidence and eat away their social life.

I am equally hard on the rich and poor. I cause trouble on the job and in the home. Yet, few of those I attack do anything to fight me, because no-one wants to admit I exist.

I am a hearing problem. Early detection is important.

To arrange for an electronic hearing test in our office or your own home, just call 457-1140 or stop in at Beltone Hearing Aid Service.

Redwood Seniors Are Told About The Credit Jungle

By JEFF GREER

Redwood High School's seniors yesterday were introduced to a whole new world of credit cards, charge accounts and consumerism.

One speaker warned that the concept of the cashless, credit-card society "has suddenly produced a new generation of sharecroppers."

Robert K. March, manager of the credit union at the Consumer's Co-Op in Corte Madera, explained that 19th century landless farmers had to share their harvest with their landlords. Now persons who borrow money or charge purchases must toil to pay interest to the person who owns the capital, March said.

Another speaker explained women's problems with credit; yet another expert reported unhappily that he was meeting more and more often with "21-year-olds who are thinking about going into bankruptcy."

The speakers were the first round of participants in a three-day "consumer awareness crash course" sponsored by home economics and government teachers at Redwood High School for all of the 600 seniors.

Other speakers today were to explain consumer complaint "hot lines," auto repair problems, advertising frauds and the like. Tomorrow's topics will include landlord-tenant problems, legal rights for the 18-year-old and other things the graduating student needs to know to survive on his or her own.

Teacher Sue Chelini, who teaches a course called "Survival for Singles" to home economics students, decided too few seniors are getting consumer information. In cooperation with government teacher Constantino Lavezzo and Betty Wallace, consumer services deputy for Marin County, Mrs. Chellini set up the three-day pilot program.

"The extension of credit isn't your right simply because you're a woman," she said. "It's a service and a courtesy extended by the store."

Many professional women — doctors, lawyers and the like — first establish credit while single and retain charge accounts in their own name after marriage, she said.

One girl student objected to credit organizations that demand information about former husbands from divorcees. The firms need the ex-husband's name and lists of family charge accounts as an index of how well the divorced woman managed the family's money while married, Mrs. Fooshee said. But "a man takes the credit with him in his name" and the woman must practically start over, she said.

"Some discrimination still exists" when business women try to obtain credit, the speaker said. Formation of a New York City bank by women has begun to erode resistance in this field, she added.

"I prefer not to even get involved with separated persons," even though split families often need a whole new set ot household items, Mrs. Fooshee said.

Loretta O'Rourke, manager of the Credit Bureau of Marin County, explained how students can obtain their first credit, now that the law has opened the field to 18-year-olds.

She suggested that teen-agers first obtain an income from allowance or part-time work, then open checking and savings accounts. Then, Mrs. O'Rourke said, the teen-ager can go to a store where he or she is known through past trade, and ask to charge a small purchase on a 30-day account, as a start to building a credit rating.

Going to firms with which the parents have credit is another possibility, she added.

She cautioned that anyone who buys on the installment plan first should save up a couple of months' payments, to guard against unexpected financial reverses.

So-called revolving accounts are the most costly in terms of interest — 1.5 per cent per month on the balance — and young couples often call them "the revolving door to death," Mrs. O'Rourke warned.

She said credit bureaus such as she manages aren't collection agencies: they exist primarily to keep records so firms asked for credit can check on applicants' past payment habits. Consumer laws give the individual a right to check the files in the credit bureau and tell the buyer's side in payment disputes, she said.

Frederick S. Perley, manager for Consumer Credit Counselors of Marin, warned that, "You can easily get far more credit than you can handle. I'm seeing more and more 21-year-olds who have darned near wrecked their lives" with credit excesses, he added.

Another common teen-age financial problem is a lack of public liability and property insurance on the youth's car, he added. An accident can lead to lawsuits which can turn the young driver into a financial cripple, Perley said.

March, in explaining the credit "sharecropper" concept, used as an example a young relative of his who financed a motorcycle through an installment loan. Six and a fraction of the 25 installments he paid represented the interest on the $750 loan, he said. Membership in a credit union — with lower interest rates — would have eliminated about three months' payments he said. If the youth had saved up the money before buying, he would have eliminated more than six months' "labor" because his savings would have earned interest in a bank, March said.

Turning to buying autos, March told the students — and one mother who listened in — that every dealer offers a discount on the required, posted list price. The buyer should dicker for the discount before bringing up the subjects of trade-in or down payment, he advised. Plan on spending an average of 12 cents a mile to operate the car once it is bought, he added.

March also told the students that borrowing to finance college education is a good investment, because it can increase a person's lifetime earning ability by $50,000 to $100,000 or more.

Every college has officers to assist students in obtaining grants or loans, he said.

He contrasted the fate of the unschooled artist who can paint full-time and "starve", to the educated artist who can "be an assistant professor at the junior college half-time and paint half-time" without being in poverty.

Redwood High's consumer awareness course may be repeated at other schools, Mrs. Chelini told the Independent-Journal, and may extend into the adult education programs. Tamalpais High School District trustees eavesdropped on parts of the course today and yesterday.

Almost none of the students attending the first day of the course had ever had any experience with credit, they said. Most questions reflected a "begin at the beginning" attitude.

Speakers reported that a few students opposed the whole idea of credit buying. But they were definitely in the minority.

Ayala Is Upset Winner In San Bernardino Vote

SAN BERNARDINO (UPI) — Ruben Ayala swept to an upset victory over Republican Jerry Lewis in a special election Tuesday, giving Democrats in the state Senate their first clear majority since 1970.

Ayala, who won 54 per cent of the vote in the sprawling 20th District, fought off Lewis' heavily financed campaign to become the first Mexican-American state senator in recent history.

"This campaign showed that San Bernardino County is not for sale," the 50-year-old county supervisor from Chino said in a victory statement.

Campaigning hard on the issue of spending scandals related to the Watergate affair, Ayala said "the long road back from Watergate begins in San Bernardino County."

Democratic state chairman John Burton, a San Francisco assemblyman, said Ayala's victory represented "a fall-out of the whole national disenchantment with the Republican administration.

"The voters of San Bernardino County turned back the tide of Republican special interest money which poured into that campaign at a shocking rate," Burton said.

Ayala estimated that his campaign cost $60,000, while Lewis, a Republican state assemblyman, spent $140,000.

Ayala, whose victory gives the Democrats a 21-19 majority in the senate, had accused his opponent of receiving donations from Sacramento lobbyists with ties to oil companies.

The senate seat, which represents most of San Bernardino County, was vacated by the resignation last October of William E. Coombs.

Dr. Way Named To School Group

Dr. Walter Way, a former member of the Marin County Committee on School District Organization, last night was named to fill a vacancy on the committee.

Way, who served on the committee from 1965 to 1970, was named by the committee to fill the seat vacated by the resignation of Sally Rakow. He will serve until October, 1975, according to Robert E. Spain, county assistant superintendent.

Way will represent the committee's second district, including San Anselmo, Ross, Kentfield and Fairfax.

The only other nominee for the vacancy was Rita Friedman.

The committee also decided to support the Laguna Joint and Lincoln school district plans to restore their buildings to meet state earthquake standards rather than replace the buildings.

Three buildings in the district were built before 1933 and must either be replaced or restored by June, 1975.

Spain said representatives of the districts indicated they would not seek state funds to restore the buildings.

Whiskey Springs Plans Sent Back For Changes

Sausalito Planning commissioners last night sent to the Community Appearances Advisory Board a lengthy list of suggested improvements in plans for the proposed Whiskey Springs Development.

The improvements, recommended in the project's environmental impact report and by planning staff, will be conditional to approving a use permit for commercial enterprises in the northern half of the 14-acre project, according to Planning Director Herb Case.

Chief among them are suggestions dealing with water conservation, sewers, landscaping, design of rooftops, earth mounds to muffle traffic noise on Bridgeway and widening and improving streets bounding the project, Case said.

The advisory board will consider the recommendations at 8 p.m. Wednesday in council chambers.

Duffel Financial and Construction Co. is proposing to build a hotel, two restaurants, two bars, a bank, shops and offices as well as townhouses and apartments at Bridgeway and Coloma Street, the old American Distillery Co. property.

First Arkansas Road In 1828

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI) — In 1824, the government made the first effort to build roads in Arkansas.

By 1828, the road from Little Rock to Memphis was opened, but for only limited traffic.

Novato Schools Will Start Later Monday

Novato Unified School District schools will begin classes a half hour later starting Monday because of Daylight Savings Time.

District trustees, with Elizabeth Mertel dissenting, voted last night to change school hours for the rest of the school year.

There were protests from about 20 high school students and some of the audience, according to publications director Annette Conklin.

Parents of elementary school pupils, citing the hazards of sending small children to school in early morning darkness, argued for the change, Miss Conklin said.

San Marin High School students presented a petition with 450 signatures protesting the change, and a vote at Novato High School showed 700 out of 800 student voters opposed the change, Miss Conklin said.

The Novato Teachers Association had a poll which showed 214 against and 27 in favor of the change. Teachers also voted that, if a change were made, it should be only for the winter months.

Trustees agreed that making the time change for only a short period would be disruptive.

Elementary classes will start at 9 a.m., senior high school classes at 8:45 a.m. and junior high school classes at 9:30 a.m.

In other action, the board established a list of educational priorities and gave first place to improving the reading program in the fourth through sixth grades. A special meeting on the reading matter will be held at 8 p.m. Jan. 29 at the Novato High School lecture hall.

Trustees placed alternative schools second on the list and also authorized $2,000 for a study on the possibility of having year-round school.

Replacement of equipment was third on the list and expanding the vocational education program was fourth.

Improving the counselor ratio for the 10th through 12th grades, hiring a human awareness coordinator and an activities director for the 10th through 12th grades will be considered during preparation of the 1974-75 budget.

The board's next meeting will be at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Novato High School lecture hall.

Theft Of Rifle Brings Jail Term

Thomas William Duerner of Tamalpais Valley, who pleaded guilty to stealing a rifle from an acquaintance, has been given three months in jail.

Judge Charles Read Best of Marin Superior Court also placed the 18-year-old on two years probation for the August grand theft.

Carl E. Mead of San Rafael told authorities he discovered a rifle missing from his apartment during a party there, then walked outside and saw Duerner about to drive away.

Duerner refused to let Mead search his car's trunk and police would not do it without a court order, so Mead prided open the trunk and found the gun inside, he said.

WET WASHINGTON

This aerial view of the Chehalis River basin in southwest Washington was taken yesterday when the river was already six feet over flood stage and still rising. Novato Plea For Small Builders

By THERON NEWELL

Any plan to limit growth in the Novato area should have measures in it to protect the small builder.

That was the opinion expressed by persons who spoke last night at a public hearing before the Novato City Council on a proposed ordinance to limit development to 500 units a year. The council listened to all speakers, but took no action on any of the suggestions.

After the hearing, which drew about 40 persons, Mayor Fred F. Ruegg agreed with some of the speakers that "The most vulnerable person in the ordinance is the small builder. We must find ways to protect him."

It was pointed out that there are approximately 30 small builders in the Novato area who live in the city and construct from five to 50 houses a year, most of them custom-built homes.

Ruegg said the proposed regulation was far from perfect. It will take many ideas and suggestions from the community before the council is satisfied it has an ordinance that will meet the needs of the community in its desire to limit growth, he added.

Joseph W. Wright of the economic development committee of the Novato Chamber of Commerce said the ordinance should exclude all single-lot building and developers with one- to four-lot developments from the 500 limitation.

Wright also asked that units which can be built under the 500 limitation be assigned to developers and builders as soon as possible in the planning process so that a developer would not spend a lot of money preparing a plan and then be "shot down."

Carl Brown of the Redwood Empire Building Association, said there is a need for the small developer who builds custom-type houses. He asked the city staff to come up with a way to protect these small developers against the large developers who would get more points for their planned development because they can afford to include such items as open space and low income housing in their projects.

(Under the proposed ordinance, allocations for houses would be made according to a point system based on desirable features of a development. The more such features a project has, the more points it would receive.)

Kenneth H. Wilson of 91 San Benito Way, who builds about 12 houses a year, said "The large owner cannot provide custom building." He asked that all building plans for four houses or less be eliminated from the ordinance.

Wilson said if the small builder is included in the proposed ordinance, he will be forced out of business in Novato.

Robert Burgess of Black Point objected to the city having any part in planning of the Black Point area. He said residents there get better service from the county planning department than city residents get frem the Novato planning department.

His sentiments against Black Point being part of the Novato planning area were echoed by Joseph Y. Seminario of 8 Anton Way, who said people do not want to annex to the city.

Rodney Cleared For TV Series

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Five-year-old Rodney Allen Rippy, an overnight show business success as a cute kid stuffing a hamburger into his mouth in television commercials, went to court yesterday to get a judge's approval to star in a TV series and make records.

Under California law, contracts involving child entertainers must be approved by the court. Superior Court Judge Jack Ryburn approved a contract with VSC Enterprises to make a pilot for a TV series entitled "Rodney," at $3,500 to Rodney for the pilot, and a seven year option at $5,000 a show. The recording contract pays 7 per cent of the retail record price to Rodney.

"Amen," Rodney shouted when the judge approved the terms. "I like being a movie star."

Larkspur Council Wants Total San Quentin Peninsula Control

A preliminary development plan for the San Quentin Peninsula should include all the undeveloped property there, not just the 105 acres held by Lincoln Properties, the Larkspur City Council decided last night.

Lincoln Properties last month purchased the land from T. I. Properties of Los Angeles, which in the past had planned apartments, offices and recreational uses for the site. It is assumed that the new owners, who have developed several apartment projects on the San Francisco Peninsula, will propose the same type of project.

City officials plan to rezone the whole area to planned development to submit master plans showing their project's relationship to surrounding properties.

At issue last night was whether four smaller privately owned holdings on the peninsula and three owned by public entities should be included in a master plan.

"It's our only cudgel" to control the entire peninsula development, said Councilman Joan L. Sestak.

It was finally decided that three parcels owned by Marin Municipal Water District, Marin County and the Ross Valley Sanitary District, would be included in a master plan but would not have to pay for the costs of the plan.

It seemed to be assumed that Lincoln Properties would bear the cost of preparing the initial plan with the other owners cooperating.

First hearing before the planning commission on the change in zoning is set for Tuesday night.

The Larkspur City Council also:

GIFT — Presented a gift to Willie Wilson in recognition of 20 years' service with the public works and fire department.

ABATEMENT — Gave Helen Martin Sharp 30 days more to remove debris from a lot at 302 Madrone Avenue where a building was born down.

POSTPONEMENT — Tabled until March discussion of a proposed ordinance setting guidelines for implementation of the state conflict of interest act.

PARKING — Approved a new plan by the Larwin Co. for a 208-unit apartment project atop Bon Air Hill which would include 347 parking spaces. An earlier proposal had shown fewer parking spaces and more apartments.

CLOSED — Went into closed session to discuss the hiring of two persons but made no decisions.

Two Leave PUD Board In Bolinas

The number of directors of the Bolinas Public Utility District shrank to three last night as both Orville Schell and board president Marguerite K. Harris resigned.

Schell had announced his intentions Nov. 28, but Mrs. Harris's abrupt move caught other board members and the audience by surprise. She refused to give a reason for her resignation.

The board, which has been waiting for director Lewis P. MacAdams Jr. to return from a trip to name Schell's replacement, decided to postpone filling the two seats for another week. MacAdams said he wished more time to consider existing applicants and to allow others to come forward.

Following Schell's resignation, Mrs. Harris made an unsuccessful attempt to reduce the board membership to three. She said, a smaller board would save the district money on director's salaries. She said Paul K. Kayfetz, William E. Niman and MacAdams — all voted in at the last election — should remain as directors.

The proposal drew no support. Kayfetz then proposed Niman as vice president, replacing Schell. As soon as Niman was elected, Mrs. Harris resigned.

Kayfetz immediately moved that J. Michael Groshong, runnerup in last November election, and Judith Weston, co-chairman of the Bolinas Planning Group, be named as the new directors.

After a five-minute recess called by Niman, MacAdams refused to second the motion.

Niman announced that new directors will be appointed at next week's meeting.

PG&E To Seek Gas Rate Boost

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Pacific Gas & Electric Co. says it will seek a "substantial" rate increase to offset the rising cost of Canadian natural gas.

The Canadian province of Alberta — from which PG&E gets 38 per cent of its gas — will raise its price for natural gas from 28 cents to 55 cents per 1,000 cubic feet on July 1, Premier Peter Lougheed announced yesterday.

"It's going to have to be passed along to the consumer," a PG&E spokesman said. "As for any definite figure, I don't know, but it would be a substantial one."

The spokesman did not say when the utility would apply for the increase before the state Public Utilities Commission.

Tuna Boats Leave For Fishing Grounds

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Approximately 60 tuna seiners left early yesterday for eastern Pacific fishing grounds.

The month-long dispute over the price of tuna was settled yesterday with the fisherman agreeing on $575 a ton for yellowfin and $545 a ton for skipjack tuna.

College Board Orders Search For President

Marin Community College District trustees last night set wheels in motion to recruit a president for the College of Marin by this summer.

Trustees agreed to separate the presidency of the Kentfield campus from the post of superintendent of the district. In the past, the district superintendent has also served as college president.

The board authorized Supt. Dr. John A. Grasham to begin advertising for applicants for the new position.

Earlene Jones, district publicist, said next year's district budget will include funds for both a president and a superintendent, so the president probably will be hired by July 1.

The board also asked trustees Lawrence I. Kramer Jr., Donald K. Felt and Frances Compton to meet with members of the Academic Senate to work on procedure for hiring the president.

Faculty members have demanded that a representative from their ranks be allowed to sit with the board when it deliberates over the selection in closed session. Trustees have balked at that proposal.

The Marin Community College District Board also:

PERSONNEL — Appointed Timo T. Pajunen as an instructor in photography at a $12,383 annual salary.

NOVATO — Added 20 days to the completion date of phase one of Indian Valley Colleges in Novato, extending completion to January of next year.

REQUIREMENTS — Changed physical education requirements to conform to new state law making it optional rather than required.

EMPLOYMENT — Continud employment for 12 new instructors through the end of the year even though their continued employment may make them eligible to be automatically rehired next year under new state legislation.

PUMP — Returned to the state $92,749 in state funds for a pump station as part of Corte Madera Creek flood control until the project is ready to proceed.

SYMPOSIUM — Authorized $319 from Indian Valley Colleges and $400 from College of Marin research and development budgets to be used by five IVC faculty members to attend a symposium on learning centers at De Anza College.

CLAIM — Rejected the claim of Ralph Larsen and Son Inc. for payment of $258,373.63 for completion of the College of Marin Library. The sum has been withheld by trustees pending resolution of heating and air conditioning problems in the building.

CLOSED — Met in closed session and gave a new contract to Dr. Ernest H. Berg, president of Indian Valley Colleges. A committee to discuss the terms of the contract will be named by the board's president.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the College of Marin Office Center, room 160.

Bay Area TV Stations To Offer Credit Courses

Two San Francisco television stations will begin airing college courses next month and Marinites can receive credit for the classes through the Marin Community College District.

District trustees last night decided to participate in a television consortium of 20 Bay Area colleges which will finance the productions. Credit will be granted at both the Kentfield and Novato campuses for the television courses.

Persons wishing to receive credit can register at either campus, watch the programs and take tests on the Marin campuses, according to Earlene Jones, district publicist.

She said this is the first time the Marin colleges have granted credit for educational television classes.

Trustees authorized payment of $5,900 to the consortium to finance the programming and an additional $6,100 to pay faculty members who will administer the program locally.

Courses to be offered are "Law of the 70's," a three-unit course, and "Family Risk Management," two-unit course dealing with insurance.

They will be aired on station KGO, Channel 7 weekdays at 6:30 a.m., and repeated on station KQED, Channel 9 at 3 p.m.

Mrs. Jones said credits earned for the courses through the Marin colleges will be transferable to other state colleges and universities.

Great Land Run Almost Over

By ELMER W. LAMMI

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The 19th Century pioneering spirit is still calling people to free land in the West, but the great land rush is almost over.

Those who seek to make a new start in the wilderness generally look northward to Alaska, where millions of acres of land still remain untouched by man.

They get little encouragement from the government officials who keep an eye on the 762 million acres of land still in public ownership. In fact, officials of the Bureau of Land Management insist there is no more "free land" and wish those who dream of hacking farms out of the wilderness would forget it.

Yet, the Homestead Act of 1862 and other land laws that helped open up the West are still on the books —and it still is possible to get "free" land from the government or to buy it for as little as $1.25 an acre.

But it's not easy.

The pioneers brought nearly 250 million acres of western lands under cultivation but the land rush did not reach its peak until long after the 19th Century ended. The biggest boom came between 1911 and 1925, when more than 500,000 homesteads covering some 100 million acres were established.

With nearly all the tillable land gone, and faced with discouragement by government officials, only 182 homesteaders met the requirements of the land laws and won ownership of 22,417 acres of public land in 1972 — nearly all of it in Alaska.

The number who began claiming the "free" land in that year was 68.

BLM officials estimate that they receive about 100 letters a day from people seeking information on homesteading or how to buy other "cheap" government land. The replies are discouraging.

"There is no free government land," the BLM tells the writers in "the hard facts of homesteading."

"Bluntly, you've little chance of 'homesteading,'" the pamphlet continues. "This is true even in Alaska, the 'last frontier.'"

Those who seek information specifically on homesteading in Alaska are told that what land is still available is generally remote. Much of it can be reached only by flying to a lake or tiny airstrip, from where the homesteader must reach his land on foot.

Officials also remind prospective homesteaders that the law requires them to farm the land and to live on it for at least seven months a year for three years. They say the cost of clearing the land, building a home and equipping a farm can go as high as $200,000.

And when the crops are finally harvested, the homesteader may find that he can't compete with food brought into Alaska from the "outside" where it may cost much less to grow it.

The homesteader must pay a filing fee of only $10 to move onto the land. If he manages to meet the requirements of the law he gains full title to the land on payment of a final fee of $50.

In line with their policy of discouraging homesteading, BLM officials seldom remind homesteaders of a short cut — the so-called "commuted entry" in which the homesteader need farm only 10 acres of a 160-acre homestead in the first year. At the end of the year he can get title to the land by paying $1.25 an acre for it.

There are other ways to gain title to public lands. One way is to buy it. And despite BLM's claims that there is no "cheap" land, government lands often sell for much less than what land developers charge for five-acre "ranchettes" in the desert.

Small tracts are listed in Our Public Lands, a quarterly publication available for $2 a year from the government printing office, and are sold by public auction at BLM state offices.

In 1972, about 1,700 acres of public land in Arizona and California was sold at an average price of $75 an acre. More than 9,000 acres of land in Nevada was auctioned off at an average price of less than $37 an acre.

Some of the land is suitable for farming, some for recreational use, and some — the BLM says — lacks water and sometimes even access.

In years past, it was possible to rent recreation cabin sites from both the BLM and the U.S. Forest Service — but this is now being phased out. Both agencies say land suitable for recreational use is now being held back for public use.

The Forest Service is no longer opening up tracts for cabin sites and only a few such sites are still available — in the Targhee National Forest in Idaho and the Umatilla National Forest in Oregon.

Those who now have permits for cabin sites may continue to hold them or even to sell their cabins to others, who in turn may renew the permits. The rentals range from about $100 to $1,000 or more a year.

There are other ways of getting public land — and not all of them are legal.

It is possible, for example, to gain title to public land by discovering a valuable mineral on it and mining it. The law has been badly abused over the years and BLM officials now and then root out occupants of a mining claim where the "mine" may be little more than a hole in the ground.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Pleas For A Unicameral Legislature Are Ignored

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A committee ignored the appeals of former Assembly Speaker Jess Unruh and retired Senate leader Hugh Burns yesterday and shelved indefinitely a measure to create a unicameral California Legislature.

On a 4 to 0 vote, the Senate Rules Committee held for "further study" a proposed constitutional amendment by Sen. Arlen Gregorio, D-San Mateo, that would abolish the current two-house Legislature and establish a unicameral body of 99 members.

Unruh, in one of his rare appearances at the state Capitol since losing a bid in 1970 to oust Gov. Ronald Reagan, testified in favor of the measure and blistered the current Legislature for what he charged was its inability to react to crisis.

Unruh, who is credited with improving the decision making process of the Assembly while he was speaker in the 1960s, told the rules committee:

"The Legislature has more staff, more fringe benefits and it is easier and more comfortable to make decisions but it has the inability to respond to crisis and the inability to deal with financing of campaigns."

"The Legislature is now equipped to ask the right questions, but I question very seriously whether it is equipped to come up with the right answers," he said.

Burns, who served as president pro tem of the Senate from 1957 to 1969 and was ousted by "young Turk" senators, said the current Assembly and Senate "duplication seems to serve no useful purpose."

Committee members did not clearly state their opposition to a unicameral Legislature, but Chairman James R. Mills, D-San Diego, did question Unruh's assertion that such a revision would save between $40 million and $100 million a year in costs.

The Gregorio proposal is similar to a proposed ballot initiative sponsored by Berkeley Municipal Court Judge Lewis Sherman, a former Republican state senator. If it gathers enough signatures, the initiative would appear on the November ballot.

CAR POOLS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill giving Californians a state income tax deduction for the cost of using their automobiles in a car pool was introduced yesterday in the Senate.

The measure (SB1573) by Sen. Lawrence Walsh, D-Huntington Park, would permit an expense deduction of 25 per cent for each rider up to 100 per cent for four passengers.

NURSING PLAN

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Hospital aides would be certified by the state as "certified practical nurses" under a bill which has cleared its first committee hurdle in the Senate.

The measure (SB1028) by Sen. Mervyn M. Dymally, D-Los Angeles, won approval yesterday from the Business and Professions Committee on a 6 to 2 vote and was sent to the Finance Committee.

INSURANCE

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation designed to eliminate tax breaks for insurance companies who maintain headquarters buildings in California was defeated yesterday by a Senate committee.

Currently, the firms are allowed to deduct what they pay in property taxes on their principal office building from taxes on policies they sell.

PAY BEATEN

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill giving 20 per cent salary increases to the governor and the state's six other constitutional officers has failed in an Assembly committee.

The bill (AB2149) by Assemblyman John Knox, D-Richmond, was defeated on a 7 to 9 vote yesterday by the ways means committee.

Committee Chairman Willie L. Brown Jr., D-San Francisco, told newsmen the bill was rejected because members were "fearful" of voter reaction. All 80 assemblymen are up for reelection this year.

ACT TO STAND

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A Senate committee has voted down a move to repeal the state's controversial multimillion-dollar program to protect open agricultural land from urban encroachment.

On a 0 to 6 vote, the revenue and taxation committee yesterday rejected the measure (SB463) by Sen. David A. Roberti, D-Los Angeles.

Under the program, known as the Williamson Act, counties can choose to give farmers a tax break in return for a long-term contract promising the property will not be developed.

MECHANICS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A measure allowing auto mechanics to seek state certification of their competence as repairmen has been defeated by a Senate committee.

The bill (SB1331) by Sen. Anthony C. Beilenson, D-Beverly Hills, was rejected yesterday by the business and professions committee on a 2 to 4 vote, for short of the five votes needed for approval.

Bitterly opposed by organized labor, the bill would have permitted mechanics, if they wished, to be tested for competency and certified by the state Bureau of Automotive Repairs.

ENERGY CZAR

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — An Assembly committee has approved a bill creating a state energy czar despite a dispute between the Reagan administration and Democrats over who the czar should be.

A top Reagan aide testified yesterday that Gov. Ronald Reagan thinks he should be granted czar-like powers to deal with the energy crisis—and not one of his appointed cabinet-level administrators, as proposed by Democrats.

Under the Democratic-sponsored bill, Resources Secretary Norman Livermore Jr., a Reagan cabinet member, would become a state energy czar with broad authority to ration fuel, lower speed limits and take other steps to ease the energy shortage.

JUDICIAL PLAN

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Senate has passed on a 30-to-2 vote and sent to the Assembly a bill barring anyone except incumbent judges from seeking election to certain newly created municipal or justice courts.

The Senate endorsed the measure Tuesday without debate.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Supervisors Take Reasonable Action

Congratulations are due the Marin County Board of Supervisors for wasting no time in initiating proceedings to force Marin Municipal Water District to annex two schools threatened with a cutoff of water supplies.

The water district's notice to Santa Margarita School and Marindale School for the Handicapped that it will cease supplying them with water next Dec. 1 was aptly styled by Supervisors' chairman Michael Wornum as "a rather remarkable action."

It is still more remarkable since the schools were left outside the water district's boundaries only because of an error by the water district itself a decade ago.

BECAUSE THEY are outside the district, the water they receive is "surplus water" in the view of MMWD. And because MMWD has declared that it has a water shortage crisis, it can have no surplus water.

Thus, the notice of discontinuance was sent the schools on advice of the water district's attorney, Tom Thorner, according to J. Dietrich Stroh, acting general manager.

A majority of water district directors, seeking to implement a policy of curbing population growth through control of the water supply, decided last year that MMWD has an acute water shortage.

At the time they reached that decision, the district's reservoirs were full. There was enough water in them to last 19 months without a drop of rain falling, according to the district's own figures.

Since then, a great many drops of rain have fallen — over 36 inches in San Rafael, more than that in every one of the water district's reservoirs. And the reservoirs are full again, and overflowing.

NEVERTHELESS, the water district must maintain that there is a shortage. It must do so because, based on the declared shortage, it imposed a moratorium on new connections. And several developers, whose building plans were abruptly halted by that moratorium, have filed suits for heavy damages against the district — damages that will have to be paid by its water customers if the suits are successful.

Legally, the water district is in a poorer position to defend itself against the suits if it continues to supply "surplus" water to customers outside its boundaries — including the two schools.

OF COURSE, MMWD could have taken a different approach. It could have said that, since its own error resulted in leaving the school properties outside the district, it wished to correct that by annexing the two schools.

But when an organization is attempting to maintain a fiction, it is likely to become desperate. (Witness the White House in the fictions regarding Watergate.) And desperation seldom leads to logical conclusions and reasonable actions.

The action of the board of supervisors, in forcing the water district to correct its error in order to prevent shutting down two schools, is both logical and reasonable.

Sniffles Season

Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their sinuses. Women, too. The annual assault of various viruses is at hand. To avoid manning the tissues, keep warm, get plenty of rest and eat the right foods. (At least, that's what the TV doctor says.) Whatever one's secret of good health — and they may range from vitamin C to yoga to Scotch — now is the time to apply it.

'Saudi Arabia of Coal'

Someone has said the United States is the Saudi Arabia of coal. And it's true. We have more than 20 per cent of the world's known coal reserves.

Let's hope we have learned not to become overly dependent on other lands for our energy. Let's develop our coal, oil, uranium, and other energy sources. Only then can we call ourselves independent.

New Commercial Code Omits Contract Protection

By EARL G. WATERS

Despite its many failures to address itself to problems confronting the people, the California Legislature has responded to the surge of interest in consumer protective laws.

There probably have been more bills proposed for consumer protection in the past few years than in any other single field of legislation, and many of them have been enacted.

Among those who have been attentive to consumer problems have been Sen. Al Song, D-Monterey Park, chairman of Judiciary, and Assemblyman Bob Beverly, R-Redondo Beach. The Song-Beverly Warranty Act was hailed as a significant step in consumer protection. They, along with Assemblyman Ed Z'Berg, D-Sacramento, and others, continue to pursue their efforst to write consumer laws.

ONE OF THE RESULTS was adoption of the Uniform Commercial Code during the 1963 legislature. This code has been adopted by every state in the country excepting Louisiana. But in its adoption by California an important provision was omitted.

This failure is cited in an article by Charles H. Hurd and Philip L. Bush in the most recent Hastings Law Journal.

"Alone among the major commercial states, California has no statutory doctrine of unconscionability by which courts can police contracts involving sales of goods, as that term is defined in the Uniform Commercial Code," they report.

Their concern is for contract transactions wherein there is a disparity between the price paid and the fair market value; where the seller knows the consumer will not derive anticipated benefits, or where conditions imposed are favorable to the seller at the expense of the expectations of the consumer.

They cite the Supreme Court observation in the Vasquez vs. Superior Court case: "Protection of unwary consumers from being duped by unscrupulous sellers is an exigency of the utmost priority in contemporary society."

THE NEED FOR EACH law arises from the "relative inequalities of bargaining position between the buyer and seller" due to the consumer's lack of knowledge and inferior power (money) position. "The predominance of form-pad contracts in credit transactions also operates to eliminate the opportunity to bargain." the authors note.

Omission by the legislature of the unconscionable clause from the uniform code apparently was because of arguments that it was vague. The writers reject this and submit that the test be "whether the contract terms and sales practices bear a reasonable relation to the risks assumed by the seller and to the benefits he confers on the weaker party."

Slight Cut In Oil Use Could Avoid Blackmail

Sen. Frank Church recently stated that "more than three billion dollars in U.S. economic and military aid to Arab countries over the past 12 years has brought us nothing but the prospect of cold furnaces and empty gas tanks. For all the gratitude we have earned, we might have kept the money here at home and burned it for fuel this winter."

It is hard to understand why we continue to supply Saudi Arabia with lube oil, with oil-drilling equipment and even with weapons, at a time when King Faisal tries to freeze us out.

While the vast majority of the Arab people live in utmost poverty, the Arab sheikhs use the billions in oil revenue for Soviet MIGs and missiles, destined to lead to Soviet domination of the Middle East.

If we would curtail only less than six per cent of our energy consumption, we could become independent of Arabian oil and Arabian blackmail. We would be free to respond to Arab pressure with U.S. counter-pressure.

Let us stop filling the bags of the Arabian oil billionaires. We did not win our independence from King George III to lose it to King Faisal.

Few Candidates Practice Campaign Finance Reform

Many candidates for public office are now stressing a need for campaign financing reform. Very few of these candidates, however, are actually practicing any type of reform.

Jack Felson, Democratic candidate for the Ninth Assembly District (Marin and southern Sonoma), is one of the few candidates to actually practice such reforms. Jack has limited his contributions to $100 per individual and $200 per family or organization, and to report all campaign contributions over $10. Felson has also vowed to disclose all his assets.

Operation Candor Closes Shop After Disproving Everything

WASHINGTON — Last week the White House announced an end to President Nixon's "Operation Candor." The reason given for closing down the operation was that the president had laid to rest all the Watergate-related charges against him. With the release of the two white papers on ITT and the milk fund, th administration felt there were no further questions to be answered about Mr. Nixon's role in all the strange political happenings of 1973.

There was a certain amount of sadness in Washington when the White House made its announcement. Those most affected by the shutting down of Operation Candor were the special staff at the White House who had worked so hard to bring the truth to the American people.

I WENT OVER THERE to see how they were taking it. Some secretaries were crying, several press agents were cleaning out their desks. One Madison Avenue man was passing around champagne.

"Don't worry," he told a mimeograph operator, "if the president ever decides to tell the truth again, we'll call you back."

"What do you want me to do with this photograph of Rose Mary Woods showing how she erased the 18-minute taps?" a secretary asked.

"Throw it away," Diogenes said. "It served its purpose."

"No, shred them. Someday some anti-Nixon historian might try to make something of them."

"WHAT DO YOU WANT me to do with this picture of Lincoln?" an office boy asked.

"Put it in the file box. We may need it again."

"It must be tough to close down an operation like this," I said to Diogenes.

"It breaks your heart," he replied. "Operation Candor will go down as one of the great achievements of the Nixon administration. We took a president whose credibility was at its lowest ebb, whose statements were being quesioned ever day, whose finances were muddied by conflicting evidence, and we proved he was not a crook."

"How did you do it?"

"By being completely frank with the American people. The president decided that certain questions of impropriety had to be answered. At Disney World he said he had never taken advantage of any of the usual tax gimmicks that most Americans use, such as cattle, real estate and interest. He gold the governors there would be no more bombshells over Watergate and, except for the 18-minute hum on one tape, there were none. He said he would explain his dealings with ITT and the milk fund to everyone's satisfaction — and he did. Thanks to Operation Candor, the Roper Poll revealed last week, a whopping 21 per cent of the American people do not believe that the president is guilty of any of the serious charges made against him."

"AND YOU DID ALL of that right here in this office?" I asked in amazement.

"I guess you could say that," Diogenes admitted. "But we couldn't have done it without the president. When you've got an impeccable product to sell, it's a lot easier. If you want the truth, we were victims of our own success. When I recruited this staff for Operation Candor, I thought it would take three years to refute all the terrible things that were being said about the president. You can imagine my surprise when it took only three months to lay every charge to rest."

"What do you plan to do now that Operatin Candor is over?" I asked Diogenes.

"I think I'll go back to my old job."

"What's that?"

An Exchange Of Letters Casts Rays Of Light Into Dark Places

There's a lot more going on in the world than Watergate. Or the energy crisis. Or even the weather.

Of this I am just reminded by an exchange of correspondence with an inmate of Soledad Prison, in California.

For years one of my happiest experiences has been correspondence with men in prison. Largely this follows an involvement I had with a revolt in Boston's Old Charlestown Bastille, and continuing contact with the men involved which lasted into their fine rehabilitation in outside life.

THIS WEEK CAME such a heartwarming pair of letters that I have to share them. A man writes that his mother, back in an eastern city, met his former fifth grade teacher. The mother did not tell the teacher of her son's troubles. But she sent the retired teacher's address to her son, hoping no doubt that he would want to write.

Here is what he says:

"After all these years, Mom remembered not only the big crush I had on Ms. K, but also that she had worked with me especially on the multiplication table.

"Mr. Canham, on the 'inside' time hangs pretty heavy: It's the one thing all of us here seem to have plenty of. And there have been many times that my thoughts have drifted back over the years to recall pleasant memories of better days. And I have often been disturbed when I remembered all the good things that were done for me and the little appreciation that I showed.

"Much as I hated to tell Ms. K about my imprisonment (I knew Mom never would) I knew I had to write her and thank her for all she did for me so many years ago. And I sure couldn't lie about today. I did write."

HERE IS WHAT the school teacher replied:

"Dear Johnnie:

"I had to respond to your letter to let you know what it meant to me. I am almost 80 now. I live alone in a small apartment and cook and eat my meals alone. Oftentime I feel like the last leaf on the tree.

"Johnnie, you'll be interested in knowing, I'm sure, that I taught school in the area for over 50 years, and during all that time yours is the very first letter of appreciation I've ever received. It arrived here on a cold, blustery morning and it cheered my lonely heart as nothing has cheered me in many years.

"I know it took courage to write to me from prison, and because of it I cherish your letter even more. My prayers are with you too!"

Two lonely people, a continent apart, warming their hearts together with gratitude.

IT WAS NOT the first interesting letter I had received from Johnnie. Earlier he had written, after describing his spiritual experiences: "I have a great distance to travel yet, but I am learning and praying . . . Even some of my inmate friends have commented on the change they have noticed in my daily living habits. Loving is so much greater than hating. How much fuller and more important is my life becoming each day . . . yes, even in prison. I might even say I have escaped my prison. I am now on the road to freedom, real freedom, and I love it."

Across the impersonality of the public school system, out of the darkness of a prison which is currently "locked down," come these shafts of gratitude and love. They bear home with a vengeance the reminder that the news of the world is not all politics or diplomacy or economics. Part of it focuses on the values that lie deep in human experience and can always be found there. If we look.

STROUT IN WASHINGTON

Pressure Mounts On Congress For Reform Of Tax Structure

By RICHARD L. STROUT

WASHINGTON — Tax reform suddenly has emerged as a major legislative possibility in the new session of Congress after being bottled up for years.

Congress almost certainly is going to take a look at windfall profits of the big oil companies in the energy crisis.

Scarcity of other critical raw materials will raise the question of incentive tax assistance and may play a part, too, in assisting near-bankrupt railroads.

President Nixon's tax returns, made public in "Operation Candor," have drawn nationwide attention to tax shelters available to the affluent.

New, higher Social Security taxes that took effect Jan. 1 make those imposts a heavier burden on many workers than income taxes, with consequent reaction from trade union and social-interest groups.

REP. WILBUR D. MILLS, D-Ark., powerful chairman of the conservation House Ways and Means Committee, has promised new tax legislation "next year" for two years, postponing it each time. It now looks as though it would be forced out, in any case.

In one instance, Mr. Mills shelved tax changes to concentrate on the trade bill; in the next instance it was supposed to make way for a health bill.

President Nixon is expected to offer a sweeping new health measure in his State of the Union message, after Congress returns here Jan. 21. Presumably it will go the 25-man Ways and Means Committee which initiates most fiscal legislation. This could block tax revision again.

On the other hand, pressure for tax changes is building up to a degree that encourages advocates of reform, and that persuades even the reluctant that something must be done.

TAX CHANGES are tied into two immensely controversial matters:

— The disclosure of big campaign contributions by individuals and corporations has roused suspicion that these are payoffs for tax benefits.

— As much as any instrument, the allocation of taxes determines the distribution of American income and the upward mobility of low and middle classes.

Asked recently by a reporter what single shelter he would alter first in present tax laws, Arthur M. Okun, former chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers and now at Brookings Institution, replied unhesitatingly, "capital gains."

The lower tax rate on capital gains (profits from selling something higher than what was paid) means an annual loss of $14 billion to the tresury, according to one estimate, and the benefit goes primarily to those in upper incomes.

PRESIDENT NIXON'S tax returns dramatize the subject of tax shelteres for many. Some 75 million Americans will file 1040 forms before April 15.

Mr. Nixon is the first and only president who bared his complete income taxes. They revealed that he paid modest taxes on an income of some $250,000.

Meanwhile, the Internal Revenue Service says that a published report that it is about to rule President Nixon underpaid his federal income tax "does not come from an authorized source," according to the Associated Press.

The Knight Newspaper Service had reported that a special IRS task force "is prepared to report that Nixon should have paid capital gains taxes on the sale of part of his San Clemente, Calif., estate to his friends C. G. (Bebe) Rebozo and Robert Abplanalp."

TAX AVOIDANCE by "loopholes," or shelters, has reached a point where some experts feel it threatens the integrity of the tax system. A cartoon in the New Yorker shows an employer telling his clerk: "I'm afraid a raise is quite out of the question, Hopkins, but perhaps one of our lawyers can suggest some tax loopholes for you."

High profits of big oil companies in the energy crunch are bringing a new look. There is every evidence of a huge groundswell building up from angry motorists.

In another field, the 11 per cent boost in Social Security benefits for 30 million people and consequent higher taxes open a new debate. A worker earning $5,000 a year pays proportionately much more than a corporate executive making $200,000, though the rate for both is 5.85 per cent. The Social Security tax is levied on the low-income worker's entire income but on only $13,500 of the executive's salary.

Events now seem pushing a reluctant Congress toward action.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Jan. 17, 1964

The California Taxpayers Association estimated the population of Marin County at 175,600.

Zanzibar's revolutionary government arrested two United States diplomats at gunpoint but released them after a few hours' detention.

20 YEARS AGO

Jan. 17, 1954

A British government report said that atomic power might supply one-fourth of Britain's energy needs by 1974.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By JEFF GREER

It's Those Other People's Dogs That Cause All The Trouble

Life is terribly confusing these days, what with the energy crisis and all. As a result of patriotically cutting my TV viewing in half (but I refuse to turn off "Star Trek" reruns) I'm gradually catching up on reading correspondence that piled up during the holidays.

In the mail I received one of those wise-money, inside tip sheets filled with Hollywood style wordage about how the pet food business is booming, with smart grocers giving more room on their shelves to tasty treats for Bowser and Tabby. In the same mail was this most peculiar letter from a guy who must be a shirttail relative of Archie Bunker:

"I HEAR YOU'RE some sort of nut who's involved in worrying about dog laws. . .

(Guilty, Sir — I'm a member of the Marin County Committee on Animal Health and Control, and of the recent state Legislative Task Force on Animal Control.)

"Well, let me tell you, you better do something about the dogs in this neighborhood. It's getting so I can't even leave our mutt outdoors all night without other dogs picking on her. I don't even think they're neighborhood dogs. They all got licenses on, and nobody around here buys licenses any more. All the neighborhood kids started collecting dog licenses just like I used to collect Buick hood ornaments when I was a kid.

"And if they didn't swipe the tags, they switched them onto somebody else's dogs. Then when the dog catcher caught the mutt, the wrong guy got called up to get it out of the pound and pay the fine and all. It was such a helluva mess we all quit buying licenses. . .

"And this stupid business about a leash law. One of the reasons I moved out to Marvelous Marin was so I could have room for the kids and the dog to run and play. The Mrs. and me worry when the kids don't come home for supper, but the dog can always knock over a garbage can for a little chow if she stays out all night.

"MY KIDS AND MY DOG are all right, let me tell you. They get into a little trouble once in a while, but it's all just kid stuff. A little mischief.

"But them other dogs is driving me up the wall. I got my dog trained not to make her messes in either our front yard or the back yard. She always goes somewhere else.

"But those other dogs — they're always messing up my yard. And the other day, the wife had just filled up the car with gas and got a free car wash when a damn dog from the next block came and piddled on all four tires. I had to drive around for an hour to use up enough gas to put five gallons in the tank and get another free car wash.

"I tell you, if you don't start making them other people keep their no-good dogs tied up, I'm liable to do something drastic."

Much more like this, and I'll start writing a book on "The Dog as an Endangered Species."

Volunteers Needed For Tax Program

Volunteers interested in helping low-income and elderly persons prepare their tax returns are invited to a meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the Community room at the Bank of Marin in San Rafael.

Community Action Marin, in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service, is offering the service this year. The IRS furnishes the materials and the Community Action the volunteers.

Joint Session On Novato Growth Off

A meeting of the Marin County Board of Supervisors and Novato City Council on a proposed growth control ordinance, tentatively scheduled for Monday, has been canceled.

Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste said a joint city-county committee yesterday agreed to cancel the session.

Councilmen Fred F. Ruegg and David Price Jones and Supervisor Michael Wornum thought it would be premature to have the joint meeting since both supervisors and council are still getting "public input" on the proposed ordinance, Baptiste said.

No new date was set. Initial talks between the board and council on growth control ended abruptly last month when supervisors Gary T. Giacomini and Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. walked out after Councilman George C. Quesada made a bid for city control in the North Marin area.

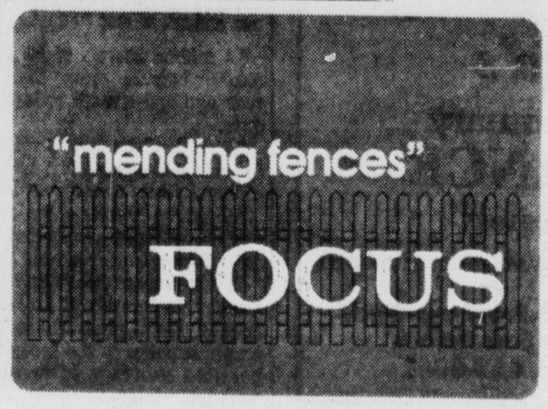
Dinner Planned For Anniversary

The Tiburon Anniversary Committee has decided it will hold a dinner early in June and a parade-picnic-street dance later that month in honor of the city's 10th anniversary.

Donald Loomis, committee co-chairman, said the group's next meeting will be Jan. 29.

Coffee For Mayor

A coffee for Mayor Armando Flores, candidate for reelection to the Rohnert Park City Council, will be at 8 p.m. Jan. 25 at the Shirley Russell home, 7898 Santa Barbara Drive, Rohnert Park.



Newsword Adventure

Many members of Congress have spent the last few weeks in their home districts, relaxing and "mending their fences." The expression originated with U.S. Senator John Sherman in 1879. On a visit to his Ohio home, he began a speech by saying, "I found when I arrived in my old home that the papers said I came West seeking the nomination for Governor. I came purely on private business — to repair fences and look after neglected property." This was thought to have political significance at the time, and the phrase stuck. A politician who is looking after his political interests at home is said to be "mending his fences."

DO YOU KNOW — When will Congress convene?

All are at 7:30 p.m. in Olney Hall on the Kentfield campus. Tickets will be available at the door.

Theft Of Auto Leads To Jail

Peter Gustav Witt, 19, of San Francisco, has been sentenced to seven days in jail and two years on probation for temporarily taking a vehicle.

Witt drew the sentence from Judge David R. Baty of Marin Municipal Court.

San Rafael police arrested him in November after the car he was driving was reported stolen from a Sausalito man.

A second man, Paul Martin Gillespie, 24, of Vermont, arrested in another stolen car near the one Witt was driving, was sentenced to 90 days in jail for misdemeanor car theft.

Odometer Cheaters Escape Jail Terms

Two San Rafael used car dealers have been put out of business by the state Department of Motor Vehicles and a Marin Superior Court Judge.

James Garrett and Leo Morris, partners in G and M Wholesale Autos, will not go to jail, however, for rolling back the odometers of at least two used cars.

Garrett and Morris pleaded guilty to two counts of grand theft before Judge Charles Read-Best of Marin Superior Court.

Best noted that the pair's auto dealer license has been revoked, perhaps permanently, by the motor vehicles department.

Sentencing them to four months in jail, Best suspended the sentence and instead ordered them to work 160 hours for the Volunteer Bureau of Marin.

Two other grand theft counts were dismissed under the terms of a plea bargain.

The men were charged in September after an investigation showed they had rolled back the odometers of at least five cars by between 12,000 and 37,000 miles.

The lower mileage readings allowed the pair to sell the cars for higher prices than they ordinarily would have received, according to the Marin District Attorney's office.

Standard Lists Oil Inventories

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Standard Oil Co. of California published its oil inventories and noted that while they are comparable to stocks last year at this time, the real crunch is ahead.

O. N. Miller, board chairman of the company, issued a statement saying that "declining availability of crude oil to U.S. refineries" will curtail output of gasoline and other products in the coming months.

Standard said it has the following inventories:

7 million barrels of partly finished oils down ½ million barrels from a year ago.

9.6 million barrels of gasoline about the same as a year ago and enough to last 29 days.

3.1 million barrels of jet fuel 300,000 barrels more than a year ago and enough to last 23 days.

9.7 million barrels of distillate fuel oil a 42-day supply, up 3.8 million barrels over a year ago.

4.9 million barrels of residual fuel oil, a 22-day supply and up 400,000 barrels over a year ago.

The statement noted that the heavier inventories of fuel oils resuled from pressure to increase supplies in the face of a possible shortage of heating fuels this winter.

Bagley Proposes Tax Adjustments

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to adjust personal income tax schedules to take into account inflation was proposed today by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

Tax brackets would rise automatically along with annual increases in the cost-of-living, with the result that taxpayers receiving cost of living pay hikes will not be bounced into a higher tax bracket.

A spokesman for the assemblyman said that without such legislation, inflation eventually will put everyone in the top income tax bracket.

Bagley's bill would require the Franchise Tax Board, beginning next January, to recompute income tax brackets to reflect pay hikes given to offset inflation.

The present system fails to account for the fact the taxpayer receiving cost-of-living pay hikes has no increase in purchasing power, Bagley's office explained. In fact, all the taxpayer is doing is staying even with inflation, the staff said.

Taxpayers should pay a higher percentage of their income for taxes only when their income increases in excess of inflation, it said.

The staff cited the example of a married couple with $10,000 in taxable income in 1974. Assuming 10 per cent inflation during 1975, and that their taxable income grows during 1975 by 10 per cent to $11,000, their taxes would go from $140 to $180 under the present system.

This would increase their net tax from 1.4 per cent to 1.64 per cent of their income. With Bagley's measure, they would pay $154 on their 1975 taxes, holding the percentage at 1.4 per cent.

College Offers An Adult Course

College of Marin will offer an adult course, "Family and Couples Interaction" starting Jan. 31 at 7 p.m. at the college.

The ten sessions will be held in a room designed for informal group settings. The course will bring the benefits of family therapy to the classroom in an informal learning experience, according to the instructors, Jean Hayes and Lothar Salin.

Focus will be on preventing future problems as well as exploring and enhancing present relationships, according to the instructors. It is aimed toward couples, married or not, but open to a limited number of single parents with families.

The instructors have worked together as a co-therapy team with couples and families for four years. Miss Hayes is on the staff of Catholic Social Service of Marin and has a private practice in marriage, family and child counseling. Salin, who has taught interpersonal communication at College of Marin since 1969, is a staff therapist at Fort Help in San Francisco.

The course will explore how families operate, studying both problems and areas of strength in order to increase the aliveness and excitement that are to be shared. Emphasis will be placed on exploring the ways family members communicate with one another and attempt to get their needs met. Concepts used will be those developed by Virginia Satir of Mill Valley, pioneer in family therapy.

Pre registration is required as there is a limit of 24 participants. Students may register in the registrar's office beginning Monday.

San Rafael School Children Are Taking Kidney Screening Tests

San Rafael city schools are scheduled through February for the kidney disease screening program of the Marin County Chapter of the Kidney Foundation of Northern California.

Laurel Dell Primary and Intermediate schools were screened on Wednesday, with McPhail and Gallinas schools scheduled for screening next Wednesday. The schedule will continue: Jan. 30, West End and Bahia Vista schools; Feb. 6, Coleman School; Feb. 13, San Pedro and Short Schools; Feb. 20, Sun Valley and Oliver Hartzell schools, and Feb. 27, Glenwood School.

Dorothy Erickson, a director of the chapter, said that the screening program costs $1.60 per child, and parents are asked to donate $1 per child for the screening program. She added that in prior testing in other Marin area schools some 85 to 90 per cent of the children participated in the screening program, but less than 50 per cent of the parents have donated their dollars. The result is that the program has cost the Kidney Foundation almost twice what was anticipated and it might not be able to continue, she said.

Mrs. Erickson said that about 1 per cent of the children tested have been found to have urinary tract infection which shows no symptoms. She urged parents to co-operate with the instructions and small donation when the instructions are sent home to them from school.

GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

He'd Like To Impress New Girl But Does Too Much Drinking

DEAR RAP:

What's wrong with me? Ever since I met this great girl, Donna, I overdrink at parties and make an idiot of myself. I'm not a boozer, but if this keeps on, she'll dump me.

We're both college sophomores. I met her this month after she'd had a bad break-up with a guy she'd been dating eight months. She took it hard, and says she doesn't want another serious relationship right now. I can understand that because I don't want to jump into a big involvement either. When we are alone and can talk together, we both agree to take it slow and easy and just let our friendship grow.

So great. Except that my crowd gives lots of parties, and of course there's always booze, which I never had any trouble with before. But twice now I've taken Donna to a friend's party where I got drunk and just went nuts. I felt frustrated that I wasn't being more affectionate to her, and worried that if I tried, she'd reject me, and frantic thinking she probably wasn't having a good time, and so generally uneasy that I slugged it down and ended up in a parking lot kicking tires. Usually I'm a light drinker.

She forgave me and said she understood, but if this happens again, she'll probalby think I'm hopeless. I don't feel the need of liquor when I'm alone with her. How can I convince her I'm not a lush —and how can I keep from being one —and eventually have her for my girl? Keep in mind we can't avoid every campus party. — DAVID

DAVID:

I think your mistake was in taking Donna to parties given by your friends before you really got to know her. When you couldn't talk to her comfortably (in all that crowd) you turned to something else —alcohol — to ease the tension. But it only made you drunk, and so embarrassed you ran outside.

Before you chance another party, take Donna out to dinner . . . bowling . . . on a picnic . . . or even some long walks, where you can really learn how you react on one another. Showing her off to the gang is a poor way to start a relationship, especially when you're both a little unsure which way you want it to go. — SUE

DEAR DAVID:

Look at it this way: You wanted to make a great impression, and you figured a few drinks might ease the tension. You may have slugged them down fast, hoping the new girl would recognize your status with the crowd. And nothing clicked.

When worry or frustration turn a light drinker into a temporary "boozer," he's in double trouble: he not only can't control his actions, but his conscience (which never gets that drunk) stands off to one side, watching. Every time he trips over his feet or his tongue,

Old Man Conscience whips on the guilt with, "Boy, you tore it that time," or "She'll never forget what a fool you're making of yourself!"

So . . . you ran outdoors to hide. And you kicked the tires because it's pretty hard kicking yourself, even when sober.

I'm quite sure Donna understands. I'm also sure you didn't go as "wild" as you imagine. But take Sue's advice and get to know her better before you do much more partying.

. . .Or else ask her to watch your drinking pattern. — HELEN

DEAR RAP:

Regarding KOP's suggestion of "Mistress" in place of "Ms." I agree wholeheartedly. It makes a much nicer sound, and says, "I'm a woman, different but equal."

Women have made so much headway recently that I'm sure it wouldn't be any problem overcoming the former bad implication of the word "mistress." — H.H.

PARENT AND CHILD

Kindness Is Not Enough, It Must Be Coupled With Skills

By CYNTHIA PARSONS
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

Kenny tugged at the teacher's coat. She looked down at the 5-year-old and said, "Why Kenny, how nice to see you. I miss you. I'm teaching another class now. I see you're wearing a handsome new sweater. Who's your new teacher?"

"I don't know her name," Kenny said with a certain finality, "and besides, she doesn't even know this is a new sweater."

A friend of mine taught a class in a foreign country. She was really demonstrating to the teacher a new approach developed in her country, but the children were enthralled and for them it was an exciting and intensive time of learning.

When the lesson was over one very poorly dressed and ill-cleansed little chap said, "You don't know my name."

His tone was accusative, and he was rightfully pointing out a lack of kindness on my friends's part. Her name had been placed on the chalkboard, and all the children had had to say "Good morning, Miss M–."

BUT THIS young pupil, stimulated by the lesson, had felt the sting of anonymity, the lack of common courtesy. My friend took a moment to learn his name and discovered that he had never before participated so vigorously in a class lesson. What had given him impetus, he said, was the substitute teacher's attitude.

"You acted as though I'd know the answer," was his explanation.

But, as my friend pointed out, she had neglected the personal touch while settling for academic success.

There is considerable evidence that poor children, especially those who are easily identifiable as poor by their clothes and general appearance, suffer from lack of kindness not only at home but in every so-called social institution.

Kenny was finding that his church-school teacher didn't appear to care enough about him to compliment him on his new sweater or to be sure he understood clearly what his teacher's name was.

The second little boy was attending a newly integrated public school. Teen-agers complain vociferously that they are treated with great disrespect by local youth and police organizations if they look poor or unkempt.

Yet every sign points to kindness as the way to achieve respect from young people. Kindness is the key to improved character and progression in school subjects.

MOCKERY, INSULTS, or just plain ignorance have never helped underfed and culturally deprived children. At the same time, those who merely sympathize with poor social conditions or offer hypocritical comments often fail to stimulate such children to learn.

It takes both. It takes kindness and consideration as well as an ability to teach in order for the children of the poor to achieve enough dignity and interest in themselves to be able to absorb what is being taught.

The teacher without kindness, though well versed in teaching techniques, fails these children, too often blaming their social conditions instead of finding the fault closer to home.

BUT KINDNESS alone is not enough. It must be coupled with teaching skills, with an understanding of how to diagnose learning problems, and the wisdom to prescribe what's right for each individual.

NOVATO'S NEW SPEED WEAPON

Trucker Faces Fleeing Charge

FRANKLIN, Tenn. (UPI) — An Alabama truck driver was indicted here yesterday on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident in which two young California women were killed.

Caluzell Dortch, 27, Grove Hill, told authorities he picked up the two hitchhiking women at a Nashville truck stop Dec. 28 and for no apparent reason they jumped from the cab as he was going 60 miles per hour on I-65 south of here.

Autopsies showed that Barbara Boynton, 18, Petaluma, and Nancy Jane Morey, 20, Sacramento, died of skull fractures.

Dortch asked officials to give him a lie detector test to verify his story. A test was given and Dortch's story was substantiated.

Leaving the scene of an accident is a misdemeanor.

Bad News For The Consumer: No Halt In Spiraling Costs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Both government and private economic forecasters had bad news today for the American consumer — sharply rising prices in the months ahead. At least, they said, the increases likely will not be as great as 1973.

Director John Dunlop of the Cost of Living Council predicted that both retail and wholesale prices would keep going up steeply in the first four months of the year, mainly because of higher prices for basic raw materials and commodities in the world market.

Consumer prices rose about 9 per cent in 1973 while wholesale prices shot up 18.2 per cent.

Dunlop told a group of Washington reporters yesterday that about 59 per cent of consumer items covered in government surveys had been removed from price controls "and we intend to continue gradually decontrolling."

In Los Angeles, Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz said consumers could expect food prices to continue rising this year, but not as spectacularly as the record 18 per cent increase in 1973. Butz predicted a 5 to 6 per cent increase in 1974, saying a new surge in meat prices would taper off later in the year.

One of the nation's leading financial institutions, Mellon Bank of Pittsburgh, issued a report today forecasting a 7 per cent increase in consumer prices this year. It foresaw "little substantive relief from rising commodity prices (and) further hefty increases in fuel costs."

Dunlop said wage settlements and labor strikes would increase this year as workers and unions tried to keep up with the worst inflation since World War II.

One union leader followed Dunlop's statement with notice that his contract demands this year would include provisions for "catch-up" wage increases. "American workers finished 1973 with their spending power considerably reduced," said President Jerry Wurf of the 550,000-member American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes.

Dunlop also issued regulations allowing price increases of 4 to 7.5 per cent for hospitals, doctors, dentists and other health practitioners.

The controls could be short-lived because legal authority for President Nixon's economic stabilization program expires April 30 and Dunlop said no decision had been made about continuing the Phase IV wage-price controls after that date.

Nixon Plans State Of Union Talk

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon will appear before Congress Jan. 29 to personally deliver his annual State of the Union address, White House officials said today.

The message, aimed at displaying the President as a vigorous leader despite his Watergate problems, will include broad outlines of Nixon's legislative program for 1974.

White House sources said the President will propose an expanded health insurance plan and some form of income maintainence program for the poor, while also touching on foreign policy initiatives.

Weed Killer Prohibited At Seadrift

The Seadrift Property Owners Association has been told it no longer can put a chemical weed killer in Seadrift lagoon without a permit from the North Central Coast Regional Commission.

The commission's staff so advised the association Tuesday after the practice was protested by Bolinas attorney Paul D. Kayfetz. He acted after the association's publication noted the next application of Casoron G-10 would be during January.

The association's newsletter, Seadrifter, said it had received permission from the county health department and state Fish and Game Department. It also warned that no fish should be taken from the lagoon for consumption for at least 90 days after the chemical was used.

Kayfetz, in a letter to the coast commission, said the poison will spread to Bolinas Lagoon and the ocean via two 36-inch diameter pipes.

The executive director of the coast commission, Michael L. Fischer, said today a precedent for requiring the permit was set when the commission required one for the Division of Highways to use a herbicide to kill weeds along Shoreline Highway.

ART REVIEW

Russian Painters' Works Shown

By ADA GARFINKEL

A colorful collection of paintings by Sergei Smirnoff is one of the highlights of a Russian Cultural Exhibit now at the Marin County Library at Civic Center. The show, by Bay Area artists of Russian descent, also features artifacts and costumes and is being held in observance of Russian Orthodox Christmas and New Year which fell on Jan. 7 and 14.

Smirnoff's paintings in tempera and oil draw upon history, folktales, and mythology. Although his subject matter is one of the period of Czarist Russia (with Byzantine and Persian influences), there is a fresh and contemporary look in many of the works. It is no surprise to learn that they were done within the last few years.

The dashing "Troyka" — a typical Russian festival scene — was executed in 1973. A tondo-shaped "Sketch for a Ceiling Mural" — filled with galloping horsemen and flying banners, the frieze-like "Group of Boyars," the tableaux scene in "From the Battlefield," and the stalwart "Prince Alexander Nevsky" are works executed since 1967.

Smirnoff's paintings suggest depth dimension by scale rather than deep perspective or tonal modulation. This flattens the picture plane and helps to account for the contemporary look of his paintings.

The firebird as a symbol of good fortune in Russian lore is seen in the winsome "Tsarevitch and the Firebird." Others — "Night Watch," Georgian Girls," "Fairytale" — recreate the exotic mood and mysticism that is also part of the Russian heritage.

Oleg Osipoff shows several unusual printmaking treatments in two collographs and a silkscreen. In these his personal color and textural combinations are related to various themes.

"Into the Abyss" is a collograph of heavily built-up textures, seering colors, and writhing figures which makes this medieval vizualization of tortued souls readily believable.

Paintings by Vera Terehoff, Igor Osipoff, and Vladimir Shkurking are also included.

This display, coordinated by Aleksandra Glasunova, founder of the Rusian-American Heritage Association, extends from various sections of the main room of the library into the California Room and along the exterior corridor. It will run through Jan. 31.

The library is featuring its collection of foreign language books in Russian and books about Russia in English which are available for circulation.

Library hours are 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Friday and Saturday.

Lot Of Walking At Sports Show

Man, are my feet sore today. I spent last evening walking through the acres and acres of exhibits at the San Francisco Sports and Boat Show in and around the Cow Palace.

If you ever get the feeling the Cow Palace is a small place, a trip to the sports and boat extravaganza will quickly prove you wrong. One of the first tips I ever got before going to my first show was to wear comfortable shoes. That's sound advice.

Inside the main arena are the class boats, from small sailboats to yachts. There's a Columbia 45-footer, the largest sailboat in the show, a luxurious thing with an exterior trim of solid teak. Not far away is the queen of the show (not the pretty blonde, wise guy, the boat!), "Neptune," Chris Craft's 41-foot cruiser. It's not the craft to try cruising Corte Madera Creek in, but it looks like it would be right at home next time you're sailing in the Caribbeans.

BUT THE BOAT which gets most of the stares from the thousands of boat show patrons is the Mark Spitz Boat, this year's gimmick boat which sits in the main hall at the front entrance. Believe me, you can't miss it.

Show manager Tom Rooney smiles everytime he talks about this boat. And no doubt, so does Mark Spitz. It's got a wood carved figure of the hero of the 1972 Olympics extending from the bow and wood carvings of seven gold medals on each side. With all Spitz' commercials in mind, the boat is powered by a Schick razor and includes an ice box to keep his milk in. The seat is a dentist's chair, depicting the occupation Spitz was going to enter before becoming an instant millionaire from the Olympic fame.

THEN THERE'S the Gravy Boat, called by Rooney "the biggest and fastest (and only) Gravy Boat afloat." It looks just like the name says, a gravy dish with a 5 horsepower engine attached.

Wandering through vacationland and the halls of camping and seeing the motor homes, campers, tents and trailers it made me think summer had already arrived and my thoughts went to camping and the great outdoors. I was jarred back to reality when I stepped outside the halls and into the rain.

I MADE a stop at the Fenwick fishing equipment booth to drool over the latest in flyrods and say hello to Les Eichhorn of Novato, Fenwick sales representative for the western states. Another fishing booth was promoting the catching of striped bass out of Loch Lomond Live Bait and Tackle in San Rafael and manning the booth was one of the co-owners, Art Donati.

Another Marin exhibitor was Canoe Trips West of Greenbrae and answering all the questions about canoes and kayaks was Tom Johnson of Kernville, manager of the U.S. Olympic white water kayak team in the last Olympics. Heading the booth is Ann Dwyer, president of Canoe Trips West and founder of the Marin Canoe Club. Ann, who started the Red Cross canoeing classes in Marin more than 10 years ago, is author of "Canoeing Waters of California."

BUT ONE of my favorite parts of the show is a visit to the Huck Finn kids' free fishing pool. It's really something to see the expressions on those kids' faces as they pull out their limits of two trout, with the aid of outdoorsmen who donate their time.

All in all, it's some show. The 10-day run ends Sunday.

San Marin Mystified By Chavez

By DAVE DEL GRANDE

While star Eddie Joe Chavez gave his usual performance with 26 clutch points, unheralded senior guard Steve Harnsberger connected on all five of his fourth quarter shots to help Drake High School overcome stubborn San Marin 60-40 in San Anselmo last night.

All was still as the 1,100 partisan fans sat in utter astonishment as the third quarter ended, with the defending Marin County Athletic League basketball champs leading only 35-32.

With the fourth quarter came a rude awakening for the upset-minded Mustangs. Drake (3-0), who had hit only 13 of its 38 shots in the first three quarters, converted 11 of its 15 during the game-determining fourth quarter. San Marin (0-3) saw its upset bid squashed by Harnsberger's ability to hit the open shots, many of his openings due to the spectacular passing of Chavez. The Harnsberger-Chavez duo scored 16 of the Pirates' 25 last quarter points, Harnsberger scoring 10 and Chavez six.

After Drake had jumped to an 8-0 lead, the Mustangs battled back to tie the score at 12, three minutes into the second period. From this point until the end of the third period, the lead continually changed hands, with San Marin holding the advantage on four occasions.

Throughout the contest, Drake's tight 1-2-2 zone defense forced the Mustangs into bad shots, mostly from the outside. The Mustangs hit just 35 per cent (16 of 46) of their shots while the Pirates ended the contest at 40 per cent, hitting 24 of 53.

"Eddie (Chavez) really played one heck of a ballgame," commented Pirate coach Pete Hayward after the victory. "He really kept us in there when it was close." Hayward also cited the play of center Dan Trimble who grabbed 15 rebounds.

San Marin's success resulted primarily from its balanced scoring and deliberate play.

Arnold's Team All Business

By LEW CODDINGTON

The Terra Linda High School Trojans, playing in the businesslike fashion recommended by their coach, came up on the plus side of the ledger for the first time yesterday.

Terra Linda defeated Novato High School, 49-43, for its first Marin County Athletic League basketball victory of the season and the first MCAL triumph for new head coach Fred Arnold.

About 400 fans watched at Terra Linda as the Trojans (1-2) displayed alert, disciplined defense to hold Novato (0-3) to just 23 points after three quarters — and a breathtakingly low shooting percentage of 17 (eight of 46) during that span.

"We tried to be businesslike out there," said Arnold. "You can't play a controlled game, as we were trying to, without having a controlled attitude.

"We worked hard on our defense after our (71-51) loss to San Rafael, and we played well," he continued. "We were due for a victory. I know we are better than 0-2."

Doug Carlisle scored 21 points to lead the Terra Linda victory, and added his ball-handling skills to fend off a Novato comeback in the fourth quarter. Matt Flynn came off the bench early to add 12 points. Willie Barnes led Novato with 14.

Carlisle ended a five-minute Trojan drought by rebounding his own missed shot for a field goal at 3:02, however, and a jumper by Brian Morey helped open things up again.

If Arnold knows his team is better than its record, Novato coach Jim Caranica knows it fully as well. After a 9-2 preseason, the Hornets have lost three straight MCAL games. This is a good basketball team, but it is not playing good basketball.

"It's very frustrating," said Caranica. "It must be like what USF went through." Poor shooting was also a cause as the highly touted University of San Francisco team went through an unexpected losing streak.

Final figures showed Terra Linda shooting 41 per cent (19 of 46) and Novato 23 per cent (16 of 71). "And when you don't hit, you start pressing — it's like a disease," said Caranica.

Solano Quint Defeated By Marin Tars

SUISIN CITY — College of Marin's basketball team got off to a 17-point halftime lead and then held off a furious second half challenge to defeat Solano College, 69-56, last night in a Camino Norte Conference game.

The Tars of Marin controlled the game in the first half to lead 38-21 at intermission, but Solano fought back in the second half to come within four points of Marin, 54-50, with five minutes remaining. But Marin found the hot hand again and put the game away.

Marin was led by Wil Garner's 25 points, which should put him alone on top of the conference scoring statistics. Going into the contest, he was in a three-way tie for the scoring lead with a 19-point average in three outings. Bill Donnellan scored 18 points in his best effort of the campaign.

Marin shot 48 per cent from the field in the first half, much better than it has shot during the first three games of the conference.

"We played a lot better in the first half," said Marin coach John Panagakis. "But we still let down in the second half."

Marin, which had fallen to eighth in the state junior college rankings, has a 15-1 overall record and is 3-1 in conference play. Solano is 6-9 and 0-3.

A big one is on tap for Marin Saturday night when the Tars travel to Cupertino to battle seventh-ranked De Anza. De Anza defeated Alameda 63-49 last night to put its record at 4-0, best in the Conference. Foothill (3-0) had a bye yesterday and West Valley (2-1) fell to Contra Costa (2-1), 62-60.

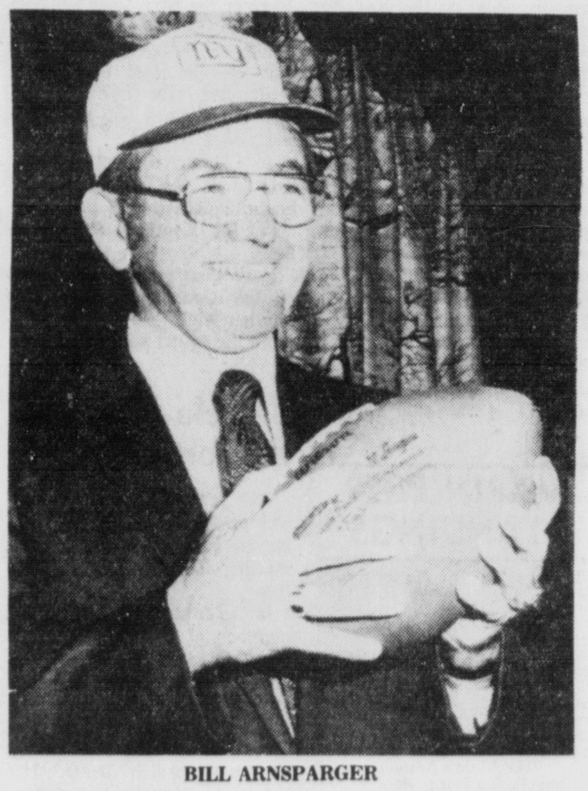
A Power Failure For Coach

NEW YORK (UPI) — Certainly, it could be no more than coincidence, but just moments after Bill Arnsparger was introduced as the new head coach of the New York Giants the lights went out because of a power failure.

It was power failure of another kind, along with an inability to defuse the opposition's attack, that made the signing of Arnsparger necessary. Yesterday, to the surprise of no one, Arnsparger accepted a three-year contract to reshape and revive the faltering Giants, who won only two games all last year after turning in a perfect exhibition record.

After the light service had been restored to the midtown restaurant where the news conference was held, Arnsparger easily handled a battery of loaded questions and explained why he was giving up his relative security as defensive coordinator for the two-time Super Bowl champion Miami Dolphins to take on the headaches and uncertainty of a head coach.

"I was happy in Miami and I enjoyed working with Don (Dolphin Head Coach Don Shula)," Arnsparger explained. "But I felt this was something I wanted to do under the circumstances involved."



BILL ARNSPARGER

The "circumstances," although Arnsparger wouldn't spell them out fully, include having a full say in all pertinent matters involving the club. Arnsparger implied this was the reason he took the job as Giant coach after passing up a chance as head coach of the Baltimore Colts last year.

Although the 47-year-old Arnsparger, an assistant to Shula for the last 10 years, is regarded as a defensive genius, he said he will concern himself just as deeply with offense.

OVER MEMPHIS

Marinite In Grid Rhubarb

MEMPHIS (AP) — Rights to a World Football League franchise were claimed by two separate groups yesterday as city officials maintained they aren't interested in the new league locating here. One of the groups is headed by Corte Madera's Steve Arnold.

Mayor Wyeth Chandler again stated that he wants Memphis to have a National Football League expansion franchise.

Chandler said he wants to wait for the NFL, and added that in the interim he doesn't expect the Park Commission would rent Memorial Stadium to any WFL team.

WFL president Gary Davidson announced in Los Angeles Tuesday that Memphis was among 12 cities where the WFL was locating. He said yesterday that he will file injunctions to keep the NFL from expanding into any of the cities.

Arnold, 35, a lawyer, was listed as founder and owner of Memphis' WFL franchise. But Ron Salerno of Memphis, a member of a syndicate hoping to secure the franchise, said his organization had a written WFL commitment for Memphis and that he was surprised to learn that Davidson had awarded the franchise to Arnold.

Disappointing Warriors Host Suns Tonight

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Golden State Warriors, who thought they might break things open in the National Basketball Association's Pacific Division this season, enter the second half of the campaign below .500.

They take a 20-21 record against Phoenix tonight at 8 o'clock in hopes of closing to within three games of the idle Los Angeles Lakers, who are leading the division with an unspectacular 26-20 mark.

The Warriors are 2-1 this season against the Suns, who bring one of the NBA's hot scorers to town in Charlie Scott. He is averaging 25.8 points per game which puts him fourth behind Buffalo's Bob McAdoo.

Latest Warrior figures show Cazzie Russell hitting at a 22.4 point-per-game mark with Rick Barry at 21.7. Jeff Mullins at 13.7, Nate Thurmond at 12.5 and Jim Barnett at 12.1 are the other Warriors in double figures.

Seals' Goalie Meloche Worn Down In Tie

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Toronto Maple Leafs finally wore down Gilles Meloche, but the Seals were still happy to have the little goalie back in the nets last night.

Toronto outshot the Seals 43-26 but it took two goals off the tiring Meloche in the final stanza for the Leafs to pull out a wild 5-5 tie.

Toronto outscored California 3-2 in the first stanza with Stan Gilbertson and Marshall Johnston registering for California.

The second period probably was about the best stanza turned in by the Seals all season with Meloche blocking 16 Toronto shots while Gilbertson hit a second goal and Rick Kessell and Joey Johnston also registered tallies.

Toronto goalie Doug Favell protested so long and loud that Johnston had scored by kicking the puck in the goal that he drew a 10-minute misconduct period, but the Seals couldn't cash in on the bonus.

DOCTOR SAYS

49er Hoskins Has Hodgkins Disease

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Defensive tackle Bob Hoskins of the San Francisco 49ers National Football League club has Hodgkins disease, the team physician said.

Dr. Lloyd Milburn said Wednesday, when Hoskins underwent exploratory surgery, "We are hopeful, in fact optimistic, that we have caught the disease in its early stages. If we have, then it is definitely curable."

Hodgkins disease is a swelling of the lymph nodes, spleen and liver that can be fatal. Hoskins entered St. Mary's Hospital early last week after finding a lump under his arm where lymph nodes are located. He had his first exploratory surgery last Thursday.

Milburn said, "There is no evidence of cancer" and that test results from yesterday's operation would be available tomorrow "from there I will be able to discuss intelligently what will have to be done to help Bob."

Hoskins, 28, a father of four, was optimistic that he would be able to play football again next season. A 16th draft choice from Wichita State in 1969, the 253-pound lineman became a starter at the beginning of last season.

FOOTBALLERS BEST

O.J. Voted Top Male Athlete

LOS ANGELES (AP) — O. J. Simpson admits he's prejudiced when he says, "I think football players are the best athletes."

Named yesterday the Male Athlete of the Year for 1973 by Associated Press, Simpson voiced his thanks, saying:

"This means quite a bit to me obviously since you're considering all the great athletes in all the sports.

"Generally speaking, I think it takes probably more athletic ability to play football and basketball. I would put basketball players in the same mold as football.

"There are so many things involved. I think even from the mental side there is so much involved in football that you just don't have in a baseball game, for instance."

Simpson set a National Football League record by rushing for 2,003 yards last season with the Buffalo Bills who finished second to Super Bowl Champion Miami in the American Football Conference East.

He was a unanimous choice for the All-Pro team and was named the NFL Player of the Year. He credits his coach and fellow players for much of his success although he doesn't discount his own value, saying, "I consider myself as good a back as there is in football."

Since the end of the season, he already has signed a long-term contract with Buffalo, has been featured in television shows and works with the American Broadcasting Company as a commentator for televised football games.

In a poll of member newspapers, television stations and radio stations, Simpson received 332 votes. Aaron got 153 votes with UCLA basketball star Bill Walton third at 75.

Rosie Casals Advances In Singles And Doubles

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Chris Evert and Billy Jean King scored straight-set victories, and Rosemary Casals won in three sets last night in second-round play of the $50,000 Virginia Slims women's tennis tournament at Civic Auditorium.

Miss Evert, No. 1 seed from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., stopped the normally hard-charging net attack of Valerie Ziegenfuss of San Diego whom she beat 6-0, 6-3.

Mrs. King of nearby Emeryville, was near the top of her game in demolishing Betty Steve of Holland, 6-1, 6-0.

Ahead 4-1 in the first set of her match with Kathy Kuykendall of Miami, Miss Casals lost her concentration and dropped five straight games and the set but went on to win the match 4-6, 6-1, 6-0.

Casals, of Sausalito, then teamed with Nancy Gunter of Lake Livingston, Tex., to win a doubles match from Janet Newberry of La Jolla, and Mona Shallau of Iowa City, Iowa, 6-2, 6-1.

In an earlier singles match yesterday, fourth-seeded Mrs. Gunter beat Karen Hantze Susman 6-1, 6-2, despite frequent double-faults.

NCAA Changes 10 'Major' Rules

PHOENIX (UPI) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association football rules committee yesterday announced 10 "major" changes in rules for the 1974 season.

John Waldorf, supervisor of officials for the Big 8 Conference and committee chairman, called a change in the penalty procedure on running plays "the most sweeping in a number of years."

The changes, conforming to those of the High School Federation, make personal fouls on running plays, previously assessed from the point of infraction, now enforceable from the point where the running play ends.

Waldorf said this would eliminate such things as the cheap shot downfield from the play, loss of possession on a free ball foul, and safeties when personal fouls are committed while the ball is free in the end zone.

The committee also decided to ban blocking below the waist on kicking plays, downfield beyond the legal clipping zone. Waldorf said this would result in cutting down on knee injuries.

Standards for footballs used in collegiate games were adopted, providing they must be tan with white stripes around the ends. The offensive team will continue to be entitled to use its choice of any ball conforming to the standards.

Other changes included requiring any substitute to remain in the game for at least one play, and the player he replaces to remain on the sidelines for at least one play, except between quarters, after a score on timeouts. This will eliminate the messenger system used quite widely last season with one player carrying plays in from the sidelines without ever participating in a play.

The fair catch signal now will require only the hand, rather than a hand and arm, above the head, and the player may use his hand to shade his eyes, a practice prohibited in the past.

Any infiltration of substitutes onto the field or into the end zone during the contest will result in a 15-yard penalty. Officials also will be required to report to the coach the number of any player causing a 15-yard penalty during the game.

Conditions Accepted For Peace

MONTREAL (AP) — The National Hockey League has accepted all conditions set forth by the World Hockey Association to reach a settlement in their two-year dispute before the courts, the Montreal Gazette said yesterday.

The Gazette said the announcement of the peace agreement is to come before Jan. 28 when the NHL must inform a U.S. federal court in Philadelphia whether it has reached agreement with the new league or whether it will fight the WHA's $60 million lawsuit.

The newspaper said that one influential NHL governor left little doubt last night that the league has accepted the WHA proposal with great relief.

"What it means to us," said the man, who asked not to be identified, "is the removal of a burden of enormous expense, both in money and in people's time."

The newspaper said the governor referred to the agreement "as settlement of a lawsuit and said the agreement hinged on two main points: that the NHL pay the WHA $1,750,000 for the latter's legal fees accompanying their litigation against the older league and that the WHA respect the NHL's one-year option clause in their players' contracts.

Vanishing American

ATLANTA (UPI) — Bob Paradise of the Atlanta Flames is one of the few native Americans playing in the National Hockey League. Paradise is a native of St. Paul, Minn., and has a degree in English from St. Mary's College in Minnesota.

Esposito, Orr Are Unanimous Choices

MONTREAL (UPI) — To the surprise of no one, Boston Bruin teammates Phil Esposito and Bobby Orr were unanimous choices today to the East Division team for the National Hockey League All-Star game.

Esposito, scoring goals at a better than one-a-game average at the midway point of the season in quest of his own record of 76 goals for a year, drew 120 votes as the starting center. Orr, winner of the James Norris Trophy as the league's outstanding defenseman in each of the last six years, also earned a perfect vote for his position.

Left wing Richard Martin of the Buffalo Sabres, second in the league behind Esposito in goals scored with 30, also was a unanimous choice to the East team, marking the first time in six years that as many as three players were chosen unanimously to any NHL All-Star team.

The diversified strength of the division-leading Bruins was evidenced by the voting for the All-Star game, which will be played at Chicago Jan. 29. Four members of the club led the voting at their respective positions and a fifth player, left wing Wayne Cashman, was on the second unit behind Martin.

The other two Bruins selected in the voting by East Division members of the Professional Hockey Writers Association were goaltender Gilles Gilbert with 90 points and right wing Ken Hodge with 99. Gilbert, acquired in the off-season from Minnesota, will be making his first appearance as an All-Star.

Selected to back up the first unit on the East team were goaltender Dave Dryden of Buffalo, defensemen Guy Lapointe and Serge Savard of the Montreal Canadiens, center Norm Ullman of the Toronto Maple Leafs, right wing Yvan Cournoyer of Montreal and Cashman.

East Coach Scotty Bowman of the Canadiens will select another eight players to complete the squad next week.

Aaron, Braves To Visit Reds On Opening Day

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Hank Aaron's first chance in 1974 to tie Babe Ruth's record of 714 home runs may come here at Riverfront Stadium against the Cincinnati Reds on April 4, it was disclosed today as the Reds announced their 1974 home schedule.

The Reds, who traditionally host the National League opening game, play the Atlanta Braves on the Thursday afternoon, April 4 season starter.

Aaron finished the 1973 season with 713 career homers and he should tie and break Ruth's record very early in the 1974 season, which he says will be his last.

The Reds and Braves also play here for the second and third games of the season, on Saturday and Sunday afternoons, April 6 and 7.

O.J. In Pro Bowl Camp; Rumor Dies

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — O.J. Simpson showed up and workouts became serious yesterday as the National and American Football Conference prepared for Sunday's Pro Bowl at Kansas City.

Simpson, the AFC player of the year, failed to show up when practice began Tuesday and word was that he might honor a statement he made that he would not play unless his Buffalo Bills offensive line unit was invited.

When he arrived, he said he had ironed out his problems, and Buffalo offensive tackle Dave Foley was invited to replace Miami's injured Wayne Moore.

Simpson said he was disappointed that Miami's Larry Csonka would not be able to play in the same backfield because of injuries, especially because "he's a great blocker."

Oakland's Marv Hubbard was named to replace Csonka.

Quarterbacks Bob Griese of Miami and Kenny Stabler of Oakland were expected to rely on running.

Griese said his arm felt tired and that the others might have an advantage because they had an extra week of rest.

New cards and Early Times.

TREVINO TALKS GOLF

A Wood-sy Lie

By LEE TREVINO

The only time I won't use a wood is when it's too much club. And that goes for coming out of high grass, too.

Love that 6-wood! More golfers are sticking those little dudes in their bags, and with good reason. They're handier than a rich uncle.

A 6-wood is good for shooting from the rough because it smooths out the spinach instead of cutting into it. People who insist on slashing at a ball nestled in tall grass are apt to leave it there.

Don't worry about overspin coming out of high grass with a 6-wood, or any other club. The idea is to get clear of it in one shot. Mainly, don't be concerned with helping the ball up. The club's loft will take care of that.

Stand closer to the ball than usual. Use an upright swing in order to get the clubhead down to the ball quickly. The less grass you touch, the better the odds on a clean getaway.

THE SKI SCENE

Bear Valley Offers Plenty Of Skiing

By CHARLIE COANE

Nestled in the Mother Lode area of California's Sierra Mountains is Bear Valley's Mt. Reba. Often a haven for such Hollywood heavies as Clint Eastwood, Bear finally was able to add a new lift (Kodiak Chair) this season, increasing the uphill capacity by 1,200 skiers per hour. This new chair takes much pressure off the sometimes crowded others. It's certainly a welcome addition. It opens up several more runs in the intermediate and advanced categories.

The day lodge at Mt. Reba has been somewhat remodelled — an enlarged sun deck makes basking in the sun in prone position an easy option from skiing and the ticket purchase hassle has been eased. And, for those who bring the little ones to the slopes, a full-time nursery has been added which operates daily from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Bear is also one of the Sierra's leaders in cross-country skiing, with the energetic program under the guidance of Ragnar Hakanson from Sweden — and a handful of other instructors. Bear even offers a package Nordic week of instruction and adventure designed to make you a real cross-country fan by the week's end.

NASTAR (National Standard Race) is very popular at Bear, and the resort boasts two of the fastest NASTAR handicappers in the country: Ni Orsi and Jon Reveal. Both have a handicap of two, which means they are only two per cent slower than the fastest pacesetter in the nation.

Bear's ticket tab, like most other resorts this season, went up $1 and is now $9 per day.

Overnight accommodations are centered around the friendly Bear Valley Lodge. There are condominium rentals also, and the lodge is located a few miles from the ski area. A bus zips skiers back and forth from the lodge, but the most fun is to ski back through the trees. It's a regular run from the top of Mt. Reba.

Sonoma State Cagers In Key Games

The word crucial is a cliche often used by desperate sportswriters, but no other word could more precisely describe the importance of Sonoma State College's basketball games this weekend.

Sonoma (2-0 in conference) will be hosting both Chico State and University of California, Davis, the top two contenders for the Cossacks' Far Western Conference crown.

If the Cossacks sweep the series, it will give them at least a one-half game edge in the conference race. In addition, two victories would mean that Sonoma could split their series at Chico and Davis next month and be in no less a position than a tie for first; that is, if no other teams beat them, which seems unlikely at this point.

Should the Cossacks lose one or both of the games, however, it could put them as much as two and one-half games behind league-leading Davis. This would be a very difficult gap to close because Sonoma plays the bulk of its second round games on the road.

Tomorrow at 8 p.m., Sonoma will meet Chico (2-1), which was the favorite to dethrone the Cossacks before losing to Davis by two points in their league opener. Despite that setback, the Wildcats are formidable as their 7-3 overall mark indicates.

The Wildcats have four returning starters, two of whom — 6-foot-8 Mike Harski and Dave Moore — were All-Conference last year. The fifth spot in the lineup has been filled by former College of Marin star Joe Casteel.

Chico also has one of the most explosive scorers in the FWC on the bench in 6-8 Arlandos Lee, who tallied 29 points against the Cossacks in their loss at Chico last year.

Saturday at 8 p.m., the Cossacks will confront the undefeated Davis Aggies (3-0) who have come on strong after six non-league losses to start the season.

The Aggies have just two returning starters — 6-8 postmen Mel Platt and Dan Bowling — but their newcomers may be even better than last year's group which finished third in conference.

At one guard spot, Davis has 6-1 Tom Henderson, a prolific scorer who took backcourt player of the week honors the first week of FWC play. The other starters are 6-3 Franklin Douglas, a transfer from Modesto Junior College, and 6-4 freshman Mark Ford.

PREP NOTES

Redwood Grid Field Probed

By LEW CODDINGTON

Redwood High School may be able to fill the troublesome drainpipe running beneath its football field, enabling repairs on the field to proceed and saving perhaps as much as $22,000.

The solution involves diverting water through an existing canal to an already functioning pumping station, which would discharge it into Corte Madera Creek.

The engineering firm of Hoffman and Albritton of San Rafael is doing preliminary studies now, and should be ready Jan. 29 to tell the Tamalpais High School District Board whether or not the plan is feasible, according to Frank A. Cassou, director of business services for the district.

The hard, undulating field and its surrounding track were found a safety hazard and declared off limits in November. Cost of repair is estimated at $141,566, according to Cassou.

The pipe runs beneath the field, carrying water from the homes in Heather Gardens to the creek. It requires periodic maintenance, and undermines part of the athletic complex, including the caved-in portion of the junior varsity baseball diamond.

The pumping station, located at the Lucky Drive entrance to the school, drains other water from the school grounds. The plan is to divert water from the Heather Gardens area along an existing channel to the pumping station. The drainpipe could then be filled, providing a solid base for the repair work and insuring that later developments would not require tearing up the repair work to enlarge or improve the pipe.

This may or may not require enlarging the two pumps or making other improvements in the pumping facility, Cassou said. The engineering study would determine that. Whatever improvements were required would cost less than $22,000, he expects.

The City of Larkspur orginally was thought to have an easement on the drainpipe area, and thus the power to determine what would be done with it, but this turned out to be untrue.

This is less true of Marin, with its far-reaching girls programs. Even though the MCAL Board of Managers decided last Wednesday to restrict girls' participation to girls' teams, this left only six sports off limits — baseball, football, soccer, wrestling, water polo and golf.

The door is not completely closed, either. The MCAL could create a girls league in any of those sports, or any other sport, at any time.

FORD MAULER CO. — Greg Ford, a small (114 pounds) but sturdy pillar of the Tamalpais High wrestling team, Saturday won the championship of the Oakland Invitational Tournament at Oakland High.

He was named the tournament's outstanding wrestler after pinning two opponents and decisioning another.

Casa Grande Five Bids For Top Spot

Proving that talent can sometimes overcome the lack of experience, Casa Grande High School could move into a tie for first place in the Sonoma County basketball league with a victory tomorrow and some unexpected help from rival Rancho Cotate.

Casa Grande, a second-year school in the SCL for the first time, has a 2-1 league mark — just one game behind Analy and Cardinal Newman of Santa Rosa (3-0).

Tomorrow at 8:30 p.m., the Gauchos will meet Analy in its Sebastopol gym for the first time, while Rancho Cotate of Rohnert Park will be visiting Cardinal Newman.

A Casa Grande victory over Analy seems unlikely, though, as it has no one to contest the Tigers' fine frontline of 6-foot-8 Bob Montgomery, 6-6 Don Petri and 6-4 Jay Bartholomew. Additionally, the Gauchos will be playing without their top scorer, guard Tom Davini, who was injured in their victory over Piner (Santa Rosa) Tuesday.

Coming off a 28-point loss to Analy, Rancho Cotate's outlook against the defending champion Cardinals is poor. Cardinal Newman is the fastest team in the league and employs a strong full-court press, the same type to which the Cougars fell against the Tigers.

In other basketball action tomorrow at 8:30 p.m., Petaluma travels to Montgomery (Santa Rosa) for a North Bay League clash, St. Vincent faces North Central League II host Point Arena in a battle for first place and Tomales journeys to Calistoga for an NCL II game with the Wildcats.

Terra Linda's Matmen Triumph

Terra Linda High School's wrestlers won the first eight matches and went on to defeat San Marin, 44-18, yesterday in a Marin County Athletic League match at San Marin High.

The Trojans of Terra Linda recorded 17 near falls to two for San Marin while advancing their league record to 2-1. San Marin's record is now 1-1.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Avoid Foreign Fund's Shares

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. What do you think of Roan Selection Trust on the NYSE as a sound investment? It has held its price of 5⅞ against a depressed market and pays a regular dividend. Since it is a foreign stock, is it subject to U.S. income tax? — M.A.

A. Because Roan Selection Trust is a foreign company, dividends are not only subject to federal income tax but do not qualify for the $100 dividend exclusion. RST shares trade in relation to the value of a package of various securities which would be exchanged on surrender of the Roan ADR's. For holders who purchased after 6/29/70, a revised package consists of $1.51 in cash, .2 share of Roan Consolidated Mines, .022 shares of Botswana RST and $3 principal amount of an 8 per cent American Metal Climax debenture with warrants. Shareholder groups contested the original settlement and now the revised package is under fire. In any event, the principal source of this company's income is from its interest in mining properties in Zambia. In view of that country's strongly nationalistic policies, the shares are highly speculative and I would advise avoiding this issue.

Q. I own around 1,800 shares of Selected American Shares which have been purchased over the past 20 years. I am retired, do not need the income but would like to build my estate. Should I continue these purchases? — J.S.

A. At this time you have approximately $13,000 invested in this one no-load fund. If for no other reason, diversification is justified in order to spread your exposure to risk. While in recent years this fund has had an indifferent performance record, dividend return has been above average. I would leave this investment as is, using the reinvestment of income and capital gains distributions to build your capital.

If you wish to continue a regular investment program, two other no-load funds which you might consider are: David L. Babson Investment Fund, 301 West 11th St., Kansas City, MO 64105 and Price Growth Stock Fund, One Charles Center, Baltimore, Md., 21201.

Phone Work Is Planned In Novato

Nearly $154,000 of Western California Telephone Company's 1974 construction budget will be spent for Novato central office equipment and building construction, according to Gordon L. Lee, division manager.

Company-wide, the 1974 budget is $5,500,000, which includes outside plant construction, station apparatus, vehicles and tools, in addition to central office equipment and building construction in other exchanges.

Three major projects will be completed this year at Novato:

Optional Residence Telephone Service (ORTS) will be available in the spring. ORTS will allow one-party residence customers in Novato unlimited direct dialing to specific exchanges at fixed monthly rates — a "break" on the telephone bill for high-volume calling customers.

Later in the spring, Lee says, Novato's Traffic Service Position System (TSPS) will be in service. TSPS will make it possible for Novato one-party customers to dial their own person-to-person, collect, third-number and special billing calls. It is a computerized system which moves the telephone operator away from a manual switchboard and seats her at a fully-automatic and cordless service desk, freeing her to answer only such special calls as those from coin telephones.

The third major project, which will be completed in September at the Novato and Kenwood switching offices, is an early warning fire alarm system.

The Cost Of Hay Is More Important

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — George Shine does not care how high a gallon of gasoline goes. He is more concerned with the price of hay.

Shine, 83, a peddler, takes his mule, Annie, on a 25-mile daily trip through Montgomery selling watermelons in the summertime. Annie eats a $1.50 bale of hay a week and her 100-pound sack of grains costs $8.

Home Comfort Emporium Has Different Type Of Waterbed

A new type of waterbed, which uses 70 per cent air and 30 per cent water, will be featured at a new home furnishings store that will open next month in downtown San Rafael.

The new store, called Home Comfort Emporium, will occupy 1328 Fourth Street, which was vacated last month by National Waterbed. The shop will carry a new line of foam furniture as well as the new type of waterbed called Comfor-Pedic Sleeper, plus a complete line of accessories such as lamps, tables, brass beds, an assortment of material to use as bed covers, and some antiques.

Dell-Era

Kirch

Operators of the new store are Al Nutter of Terra Linda and Fred Debrovner of Fairfax, who were both in the waterbed business for the past four years. Nutter and Debrovner said their Comfor-Pedic Sleeper is a new concept designed to give the waterbed added firmness and far less weight. "We have 70 per cent air on the bottom and 30 per cent water on top so that a king size bed weighs only 400 pounds," said Debrovner. "And they're really firm, and have the standard mattress shape."

ROGER E. DELL'ERA of Novato was appointed installment credit officer at Crocker Bank's Novato office. Dell'Era joined Crocker Bank in 1960 and was installment credit officer at the bank's East San Rafael office before his latest assignment in Novato.

PHILIP J. KIRCH has joined Redwood Bank as vice president and manager of the San Rafael office at Fourth and E Streets, President Byron W. Leydecker announced.

Kirch, formerly a regional vice president of Union Bank in Los Angeles, will be moving with his family from Pacific Palisades to Marin County. He is a graduate of University of Notre Dame and the Columbia University Graduate School of Commercial Bank Management. He was an executive with J. I. Case Corp. before joining Union Bank in Los Angeles.

AGATHA PUBBS, a new restaurant-cocktail lounge in Sausalito, will hold its grand opening tomorrow through Saturday at 621 Bridgeway, former site of Latitude Thirty-Eight, diagonally across the street from the Trident.

During the three-day grand opening, free buffet will be served at 2 p.m., 5 p.m. and 9 p.m. Among the attractions at Agatha Pubbs are Irish coffees and ramos fizzes for 50 cents. The place is open seven days a week from 11 a.m.mo 2 a.m. and features omelets, hamburgers, sandwiches, almost organic salads, soups, chili and desserts.

Owners of Agatha Pubbs, headed by Jerry Dal Bozzo of Brisbane, also own the Cliff-house Lounge and the Pub tavern at Masonic and Geary in San Francisco.

WILLIAM G. MELBERN of Sausalito, who has been running his Airport Limousine Service for 25 years, reached a personal milestone this week, celebrating his 75th birthday anniversary at Alta Mira Hotel in Sausalito.

Helping him celebrate Monday night were his wife Ruth, son Robert Melbern of Lake Tahoe, daughter Grace Hughes of Mill Valley, and two buddies who flew out of the old Mills Field (now San Francisco International Airport) in the 1920's — Eddie Shine of San Francisco and Sandy Dorenzo of San Mateo.

Melbern flew an American Eagle biplane with a 300-horsepower engine out of Mills Field from 1925 to 1929. He started his AIRPORT LIMOUSINE SERVICE out of Marin in 1949. His Marin Airporter buses provide transportation from Corte Madera to San Francisco airport for $5.

MILDRED WEST of San Rafael was appointed trust officer this week in Bank of America's San Rafael District Trust Office at 1299 Fourth Street.

A veteran of 17 years with Bank of America employee benefit trust department in the San Francisco headquarters, Mrs. West has been a Marin resident for three years.

PRIME-AIRE of California, distributor of portable air purifiers for those who suffer allergies like asthma and hay fever, has appointed Yvonne Schwarz of Tiburon as sales representative in Marin County.

Prime-Aire of California, at P.O. Box 384, Sausalito, 94965, was established last June by Dick De Graaff of 215 Curry Lane, Sausalito.

Prime-Aire, produced by Dexon Inc. of Minneapolis, is described as superior to ordinary purifiers in several respects. Its final filter never needs cleaning, it is almost noiseless, and its filtration efficiency is 99 per cent, said De Graaff. "It actually entraps airborne bacteria, viruses and pollen."

Discovery Of Oil Sometimes Luck

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The oil industry may use some of the most advanced technology available but finding oil isn't always so scientific.

Petroleum Today, the magazine of the American Petroleum Institute, says discovering oil can be the result of luck, the occult or even superstition.

In Michigan, a farmer went to a fortune teller and was told where to drill for oil on his property, the magazine reports. He followed her advice and made a major oil discovery. In Mississippi, another farmer told a visiting oilman there was oil on his land because he could feel it sloshing underneath his feet. The oilman dismissed the farmer's observation only to discover the farmer's land had become part of the famed Tinsley oil field, it adds.

Novatan Is Indicted On Wiretapping

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A federal grand jury yesterday indicted a Novato man on charges of wiretapping conversations of fellow employees in a San Francisco department store.

Charged was John H. Christman, 45, of 1096 Bel Marin Keys Boulevard. He is security chief at Macy's.

Assist. U. S. Atty. F. Steele Langford said the wiretapping case is the first of its kind in the Bay Area. He declined to say whether any store executives also may be indicted. "We have no evidence that any superior ordered Christman to do this," the prosecutor said. "We didn't indict Macy's because you can't put a department store in jail."

A $13 million civil suit was filed against Macy's last month by seven Macy's employees and three other persons, alleging that Macy's illegally allowed Christman to eavesdrop on their telephone conversations from last April to October. Attorney William C. Gordon, who filed the suit, said the wiretapping was an invasion of privacy.

Conviction on the federal wire-tapping charge is punishable by up to five years in prison and a $10,000 fine. Christman will be notified by mail to appear in U.S. District Court in about three weeks, Langford said today. The security official was not arrested.

Car Deaths Drop

PARIS (UPI) — Paul Dijoud, Secretary of State in the Premier's office, said today the number of road deaths dropped a full nine per cent last year because of speed limits and compulsory automobile safety belts.

Boys' Home Group To Appeal Decision

A group seeking to run a home for delinquent boys in Corte Madera has appealed the town planning commission's denial of a permit for the facility and will take its case to the town council.

The Fern Hill School of Booneville, Mendocino County, operated the home without a permit for six months last year. Town officials then closed the home and it was denied permission to reopen by the commission on Monday.

City Mgr. Ronald E. Bartels said the council will set a date for a public hearing on the appeal when it meets Feb. 4. The earliest date for a hearing would be Feb. 11.

The Fern Hill School is seeking to place six boys aged 15 to 18 in a home at 122 Willow Avenue. Kenneth A. Anderson, former Tamalpais High School teacher whose firing has been upheld by a Marin Superior Court judge, would serve as the director of the facility.

Nixon's Popularity At Lowest Level In January

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's popularity fell in January to the lowest level in the Harris Poll since he became chief executive.

According to the survey taken Jan. 7-10, 30 per cent of those questioned gave Nixon high marks on the way he was conducting the presidency while 68 per cent rated him negatively.

The Louis Harris organization said Nixon had previously fallen to 32 per cent favorable. In the last extensive survey in November, the figure had risen to 37 per cent.

Other responses from 1,460 households surveyed in January showed:

Only 17 per cent said Nixon inspired "confidence personally in the White House" while a survey record of 78 per cent said he did not. This compared with 48 per cent positive and 41 per cent negative last February.

More people, 47 per cent, think Nixon should resign than those who think he should not, 42 per cent. This was a switch from November when 44 per cent said he should and 45 per cent disagreed.

Porsche owners have been laughing at depreciation for years. And with gas consumption as low as 29 mpg why shouldn't they?

Marin City Council Seeks Safety Signs

The Marin City Council will ask the community services district to install road signs warning motorists of children at play near public housing in Marin City, council members decided last night.

Signs are needed at the corner of Drake Avenue and Cole Drive, at the crest of a hill on Drake Avenue opposite public housing and at the intersection of Drake Avenue and Buckelew Street, according to council chairman Melvin Atkins.

The council also will ask the Golden Gate Bridge District for a covered shelter at the district bus stop at Drake Avenue and Donahue Street.

Council members scheduled a session to train public housing tenants as counselors to assist other tenants in computing their rent charges and filing grievances against the housing authority. The session will be at 8 p.m. Monday at Manzanita Center, Atkins said.

Mansion Proposal In Inactive List

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation which would change the site of the proposed Governor's Mansion from Carmichael to downtown Sacramento has been placed in the inactive file due to lack of support by the administration.

The measure, authored by Assemblyman Edwin L. Z'Berg, proposed to move the site a few blocks from the Capitol.

There Are Several Ways To Kill The Dummy With Kindness

How do you defend against a long, solid side suit in the dummy? One defense is to cash your tricks in a hurry, before declarer has the chance to discard his losers on dummy's long suit. Another method is to lead dummy's long suit before declarer is ready to take the tricks.

A LONG SUIT

West opened the ace of spades and led another spade to East's king. East looked at dummy's long diamond suit and wondered what to do.

If East tried to cash out, he would take the ace of clubs. That would be his last trick, for declarer would easily win the rest.

If East tried to make a neutral lead, he would fare no better. For example, suppose East leads a trump at the third trick. South draws four rounds of trumps, discards two clubs on dummy's top diamonds and then gives up a club trick.

East found the best defense by returning a diamond at the third trick. Declarer could win this trick in the dummy but couldn't cash any other diamonds before drawing trumps. The trouble was that once declarer drew trumps he couldn't get back to dummy for the rest of the top diamonds.

South made his best try for the contract. He took only one top diamond and then drew four rounds of trumps. His next step was to lead a low club towards dummy's queen. This would get him back to dummy if West had the ace of clubs.

DEFEATS CONTRACT

West put up the ten of clubs to force dummy's queen, and East won with the ace. Now the defenders had to get another club trick, and the contract was defeated.

Today is Thursday, Jan. 17, the 17th day of 1974 with 348 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. Technically there is no morning star. The evening stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Saturn.

American medical missionary Tom Dooley was born Jan. 17, 1927.

On this day in history:

In 1706, American statesman, scientist and author Benjamin Franklin was born in Boston.

In 1806, the first baby was born in the White House. He was the son of Thomas and Martha Randolph and the grandson of President Thomas Jefferson.

In 1917, the United States bought 50 of the Virgin Islands in the West Indies from Denmark for $25 million. They remain a U.S. territory. The other 50 Virgin Islands belong to Britain.

In 1960, nine bandits staged a $1.5 million robbery of a Brink's armored car in Boston.

A thought for the day: Benjamin Franklin said, "Dost thou love life? Then do not squander time, for that is the stuff life is made of."

Trusty Gets More Time For Knife

A San Quentin Prison trusty today was given a three-year-to-life sentence for having an icepick-like weapon in his back pocket in August.

Visiting Judge Anthony Brazil ordered the sentence for Michael Ray Lucas, 26, to run concurrently with a five-to-life term he now is serving.

Lucas was convicted earlier this month in a nonjury trial. A guard testified he saw a rolled magazine in the trustee's pocket as Lucas pushed a food cart through the prison's B Section. Inside was a seven-inch weapon.

Lucas originally was sent to prison from Stanislaus County for forgery. He later drew other sentences for escape and possessing a weapon.

Merchants Lose Bid For Sign Variances

San Rafael merchants lost another round with city planning commissioners last night as the agency denied requests by five businessmen for variances for existing outsized or otherwise nonconforming signs.

The merchants had asked for an extension of the deadlines set by the city for removal of the signs which are in violation of the municipal sign ordinance, according to planning technician Matt Guthrie.

Told to remove signs by next December were the Red Fox Grill at 1013 B Street and Macy's at Fourth and Court streets. Trombetta Distributors at 715 Francisco Boulevard was instructed to remove nonconforming signs by April; Poehlman's Pharmacy at 1430 Fourth Street by next November, and a building at 1714 Fourth Street was told to remove roof signs by September.

The denials were unanimous, according to Guthrie. The merchants may appeal the rulings to the city council, he said.

The commission approved non-conforming signs at Rasco Stores at 1138 Fourth Street, Mazza Fuller Paints at 636 Lindaro Street, and Heller Baby News at 514 Fourth Street.

Commissioners also gave Lyons Ryan Ford more time to remove two signs at 619 Francisco Boulevard, and continued were appeals by Dominic's Restaurant, Midas Muffler Shop, Marin County Roofing, Glass and Sash, Villa Rafael Motel and The Lazaret, according to Guthrie.

City planners next meet at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 22.

Historical Photos Will Be Displayed

Winifred B. Allen, longtime Belvedere resident, will show historical photos of Angel Island at a meeting of the Belvedere-Tiburon Committee for the Environment Tuesday at 8 p.m. at Belvedere City Hall.

Diana Bradley, committee publicist, said the group also will discuss organizing of a volunteer group to cut down Scotch broom weeds on the island.

Aide Takes Old Job Of Ehrlichman

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Kenneth R. Cole Jr., once John D. Ehrlichman's assistant, has been promoted to Ehrlichman's old job, assistant to the President for domestic affairs.

The White House announcement said Nixon had directed the 35-year-old former advertising executive "to work closely with the vice president" and cabinet members in developing and implementing domestic policy. The job pays $42,500 per year.

Cole's promotion had been rumored for some time. He had served as executive director of the Domestic Council, a cabinet level policy group, since early in Nixon's second term. After the departure of Ehrlichman last April in the wake of the Watergate scandal, Nixon brought former Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird out of retirement to serve as a counselor to the President on domestic problems with special responsibility for relations with Congress.

Cole's responsibility expanded under Laird, and with Laird's announced departure Feb. 1, Cole was promoted to the top position.

He is a native of New York City and a graduate of Bucknell University. He served as an executive in the advertising firm of J. Walter Thompson before joining Nixon's campaign in 1968.

A Drop Recorded In Auto Arrivals

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Florida's Commerce Department Tuesday reported a drop in the number of tourists coming to the state by car in the first week of the new year.

Northeast Florida was the hardest hit by the tourist slump and the department said hotels and attractions were reporting business of 60 per cent in the St. Augustine and Daytona Beach areas.

The department said that for the week of Jan. 3-9, there were 9,826 cars stopping at tourist welcome stations along major routes into the state. The department counted 24,734 tourists in those cars.

Richardson Feels Impeachment Needn't Follow Criminal Code

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Former Attorney General Elliot Richardson said yesterday any impeachment proceedings against President Nixon should not be restricted to technicalities of the penal code.

The constitutional ground for impeachment, "high crimes and misdemeanors," are subject to two interpretations, Richardson told the Commonwealth Club of Northern California.

One interpretation is that an offense must be a crime in the ordinary sense, and another is that an offense may be an abuse which does not technically violate any law, he said.

"In my own view, I think the board interpretation ought to be the right interpretation, and should not be restricted to the technicalities of the penal code," he said.

Many legal scholars believe that Richardson's interpretation would allow impeachment for bad policy judgments — or because of the acts of appointees.

ELLIOT RICHARDSON
San Francisco Speaker

Richardson said the disclosure of the tapes erasure now will make it much more difficult for Nixon to restore "confidence in himself and his administration."

Richardson, a Republican, urged Nixon now to make total disclosure of Watergate facts, to institute reforms to make sure it doesn't happen again and "to acknowledge not only his responsibility, but in cases where he deserves it, the blame."

In an address which brought warm applause from a predominantly Republican audience of 1,000, Richardson urged "a new politics" which treats citizens as "adult human beings, which refuses to kid them, which refuses to say we know more about something than we do."

Too often, he said, there is a conspiracy to conceal the fact that various programs and proffered solutions do not work.

"No longer can we be comfortable in the belief that something is working when it isn't," he said.

One component of the new politics is "leveling with people," he said, and another is awareness that the complexity of modern society is too much for an individual to grasp.

A third component, he said, is "awareness that there are no secrets any more." He said this is partly because people, knowing they are part of the system, "won't be abused anymore, so they are talking."

In spite of the disturbing Watergate events, he said, politics should not be viewed as a dirty business.

He said politics is the noblest of the professions and "I hope my children go into it."

Study Shows Big Rivers Are Among The Dirtiest

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Some of the nation's biggest rivers—including parts of the Ohio, Mississippi and Missouri —are also the dirtiest, according to a new study by the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

The agency said the major problem appeared to be nutrients, such as phosphorus and nitrogen, which can overfertilize waters causing heavy growth of vegetation and shutting off oxygen supplies.

EPA said the cleanest rivers among 22 it studied were the Upper Missouri, Columbia, Snake, Willamette, Upper Mississippi, Yukon, Tennessee, Susquehanna, and the Lower Colorado.

The worst third in the survey were the Lower Red, Hudson, Lower Ohio, Lower Mississippi, Lower Arkansas, Middle Ohio, the Mississippi near Minneapolis, the Lower Missouri, Upper Arkansas and Middle Missouri.

In between were the Rio Grande, Alabama, Upper Ohio, Upper Red, Brazos, Potomac, Upper Colorado, Middle Mississippi, and Sacramento.

Pollutants which have been the subject of the most control, such as sewage and bacteria, showed improvements overall in the river study, the agency said. But pollutants such as phosphorus and nitrogen, which can enter the rivers naturally from erosion of the land or from commercial and industrial sources such as detergents, are on the increase.

Up to 84 per cent of the stretches of rivers studied showed increased phosphorus levels during the 1968 to 1972 period compared to the previous five years, the report said. Nitrogen nutrients increased in up to 74 per cent of the stretches of water covered by the survey.

Grape Harvest Will Be Big One

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department estimates the 1973 grape crop at 4,218,200 tons—second largest in history. The 1972 crop was 2,569,700 tons.

The estimate was furnished yesterday in an annual summary which showed the crop at the highest level since the record 4.4 million ton harvest of 1965. Grape prices dropped from an average of $165 a ton for the small 1972 crop to $159 for 1973. The total value of the 1973 harvest was put at $671.2 million compared with $423.1 million for 1972.

The Agriculture Department's Crop Reporting Board said California produced 93 per cent of last year's crop by pushing its output 73 per cent above the frost-damaged 1972 harvest.

Affluent Students Have Own Poet

Superintendent Kenneth L. Peters says the idea is not just a frill. He calls is "a beautiful learning tool."

"There can be disadvantaged children among the affluent, too," he says. "Poetry is a vehicle of communication and frequently strikes a spark with those who are resistant to learning and have problems of one type or another."

To provide poetic communication, the district hired Myra Cohn Livingston, teacher, mother and author of several children's poetry books.

Mrs. Livingston, who visits several classrooms in the district on a average of once a month, has been on the job for almost a year.

The supplemental program on poetry gives children a taste of great poetry — ranging from Yeats to Yevtushenko — then lets them create their own verses.

Mrs. Livingston doesn't push traditional rhyme schemes, a philosophy reflected in her newest book titled "When You Are Alone, It Keeps You Capone." The line was written by a child who, when told to write a rhyme, used the first word she could think of that rhymed with "alone."

The example, she says, illustrates 'how stupid it is when children are taught just to rhyme" with no attention to feeling or content. Teachers are guilty of stressing rhyme, she says.

"Unfortunately, many teachers are frightened to death of poetry, for good reason," says Mrs. Livingston. "It forces them to lay bare their emotions. It's so important, if you're going to do anything creative, to get to the emotions. Most children just produce a series of facts."

When asked by parents why their children should learn poetry, Mrs. Livingston cites a story about a woman who asked Albert Einstein what material her son should read to prepare to be a scientist. His answer: "fairy tales."

The point, says the poetry teacher, "is that this is where imagination comes from, how we introduce children to hope and the things that are possible.

"No generation can protect the next generation because evils arise that we can't even imagine now," she says. "But we can expose them to ideas through fairy tales and literature. They can identify with Jack and the Beanstalk and the way he outsmarts the Giant, and with Hansel and Gretel fooling the witch."

Roth Will Speak At Country Club

William Matson Roth of Ross, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, will speak at a reception from 6 to 8 p.m. Monday at Peacock Gap Country Club.

The no-host event, open to the public, will be sponsored by the Marin Roth for Governor Campaign committee.

Pasadena Thinks Full Year Ahead

PASADENA (AP) — Some of us may still be thinking 1973. But in Pasadena, they're already thinking 1975.

The sidewalks of Colorado Boulevard are barely swept clean when preparations begin for next year's Tournament of Roses Parade.

The new tournament president will be named next week, and soon after that, the contest gets under way for a 1975 theme.

In the 1974 parade, hailed as one of the most spectacular ever, 14 million flowers were used, mostly roses, chrysanthemums and orchids. Most of the flowers were grown in California, but the orchids were air freighted from Hawaii.

A typical float cost more than $30,000 and used at least 20,000 blossoms. One float from the city of Long Beach, Calif., holds the record with 350,000 blossoms.

The parade is funded almost totally by participants. With 60 floats in the parade, the basic cost approaches $2 million. The figure does not include travel and other costs of bands, horsemen and others who volunteer their services.

For the city and county, police costs are more than $100,000, and street preparations and cleaning cost $35,000. The tournament committee, a non-profit organization, pays some of the bills.

In April and May, the tournament president will travel the country, presenting awards for 1974 floats and issuing invitations for the 1975 parade. Among corporations, there is a five-year waiting list to enter floats.

In June, the eight companies which build the floats are invited to bid. Contracts are awarded and renderings of the floats are made. Orders are placed with growers, sometimes for whole fields of flowers, with specific color demands.

Float chassis are built in September and welding is finished in October. Vinyl plastic, to which the flowers will be attached, is sprayed by the end of November.

By Christmas, volunteer workers begin attaching flowers. The workers usually come from charity groups, which receive donations for the work. During the final 24 hours, the flower attaching proceeds nonstop. It is a favorite activity of locals to welcome the new year with a midnight look at the nearly completed floats and the mounds of fresh-smelling, discarded flower stems.

Miller Avenue Sliding Again In Mill Valley

The Miller Avenue slide in Mill Valley, which partially blocked that city's main artery for almost three years, has begun slipping again.

Ross J. Benson, director of public works said, however, that the new mini-slide just east of where the original massive slippage occurred is only a surface erosion of dirt and rocks. He said unless very heavy rains occur throughout this winter, the new slide will stay small.

To protect cars against falling debris, the department yesterday blocked off an area near the curb next to the slide area.

Benson said worried drivers had started calling the city Monday about the slide.

Chance To Save Funds These Days

NEW YORK (UPI) — One thing about the energy squeeze — by putting up with a little hardship that saves fuel there's a chance you can save money, too.

At home this is possible by following tips for saving electricity used for lighting. The top rule goes like this:

Keep lights off in any unoccupied room. Also — the last person leaving any rooms turns off the light.

Other tips on saving electricity used for illumination at home are from Luke Thorington, a lamp lighter from 'way back. He is a Fellow of the Illuminating Engineering Society (IES) and chairman of its color committee.

His suggestions:

Maximize the use of daylight. It is free. Open drapes, raise blinds and let the sunshine in. Only use electric light in the daytime where there is no possibility of using daylight. Early to bed and early to rise.

Minimize lights on at night. Turn off and on only as really needed. Develop the habit of switching off the kitchen, bathroom, yard and other lights when not in use. Besides providing heat and some light the fire in the fireplace conditions one for sleep.

Substitute lower wattage lamps where possible. A 40 for a 60, a 60 for 100, a 100 for 150. You may find to your surprise that the lower wattages are acceptable. Especially in halls, foyers, stairways, basements and in the yard.

Use watt-saving krypton-filled incandescent lamps. In the home they use eight per cent less energy for the same performance. The 55, 92 and 138 watt sizes match light output by the 60, 100 and 150 watt conventional extended service bulbs they have been designed to replace.

The bulbs also cost less when

BEGAN AS LARK

Metroliner Ride Proves Rewarding

By ORBIE MEDDERS

NEW YORK (UPI) — The trip on the Amtrak Metroliner began as a lark. I discovered soon that many Americans are riding the trains with more serious intentions.

The three-hour ride from New York to Washington was recommended as an alternative to an hour airplane flight. "It's a damn good ride," said the person suggesting the train trip "for the experience."

I rode trains almost a decade ago for the nostalgic experience because it seemed then that diesel-powered trains would be placed in museums beside their predecessors, the steam engines. The ride on the electric-powered Metroliner, the successor to the diesels, was attractive as a new experience. I wasn't disappointed.

Rolling across the belly of the eastern seaborad, the train passed the green and brown countryside from New Jersey to Maryland and the dingy houses, tattered shacks and warehouses which line the railroad tracks in Philadelphia, Wilmington, Del., and Baltimore — the beauty and ugliness of America juxtaposed before big, wide windows as the train swayed around curves and shuddered on tracks built for an earlier generation of locomotives.

The energy crisis may salvage the experience of rail travel. The shortage of fuel has caused airlines to cancel flights and motorists to curtail automobile travel. Many persons are turning to trains for transportation.

One such person was Curwen Stoddart, a retired college professor seeking solutions to the Mideast conflict for a group called Americans for a Progressive Israel. He said he often drove from his home in New York to Washington, where he obtained information for his peace studies.

But Stoddart would not risk finding enough gasoline for his car on a route through the blockades created by truck drivers protesting fuel prices and slower speed limits.

"I just didn't want to take a chance with the energy crisis," he said. Besides, "I enjoy the ride," he added. "It's really quite pleasant."

The train rider normally spends less money than the airplane passenger. The fare from Washington to New York by plane was $27.64 and from New York to Washington by train was $19, a difference of $8.64. I paid $7 to ride the cab from LaGuardia airport to my destination in Manhattan and $2 from the same spot in Manhattan to Pennsylvania station. The total saved was $13.64, almost enough for another train ride.

Because of the location of terminals and airports, the time saved by flying is limited. The taxi trip from the airport after the hour flight took almost an hour. The trip to the train station for the three-hour ride took five minutes. Add time spent waiting to land at a busy airport and the time saved by flying was 45 minutes.

For the person going to a business appointment, 45 minutes might be vital but not for the person seeking the landscape and riding for the first time on a train without a locomotive, guided by electric lines.

Energy Crisis Presents A Time To Save Money

the savings in electricity are subtracted from the bulb price. For example, a 138-watt Watt-Saver bulb for home use costs $1.09. If power cost per KWH-kilowatt hour — is five cents, the savings in electricity will be $1.50. In this case the bulbs are cost-free and there's an extra savings besides.

Substitute newer, more efficient lamp types for incandescent bulbs. Why use 10 to 30 bulbs when one will do. A 40 watt fluorescent bulb gives more light than a 150 watt incandescent. Colors now available duplicate natural light or incandescent light and are pleasing. Further, they last up to 30 times as long as incandescent. Special fixtures are required.

Use real night lights for hall, bathroom, instead of leaving regular lights on. They consume one watt or less if glow lamp types are used, three to 10 watts in incandescent types.

"Use reflector lamps to direct the light where you want it for specific tastes. For example, reading in bed can be done satisfactorily using a 30-watt reflector bulb instead of a 100-watt night-table lamp.

"Try to keep a regular light-dark schedule in your 24-hour day, say eight hours of dark (sleep) and 16 hours light (work and play).
